by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Of the 633 students from Antioch area grade and high schools graduating between

June 1 and June 9, 369 Antioch High School seniors will walking down the aisle of the North Gym to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" to receive their high school diplomas at 2 p.m. on Sunday, June 3.

As a finale of the year-long celebration of ACHS's 75th anniversary, 79 teachers, members of the administration and the board of education will be wearing caps and gowns at the commencement exercises.

Antioch High School no longer has a class valedictorian or salutatorian. But 12 to 15 cum laude graduates will be honored.

Students scheduled to speak at the commencement are Mike Styskal, president of the student council and the senior class, and Pat Barrientos, vice president of the student council and the senior class.

The diplomas will be handed out by Glen Moore, board of education president.

The ACHS choir and band will also perform at the ceremonies.

Of the 369 graduating seniors, 25 percent will be going on to a four year college and 30 percent are headed for two year community colleges like the College of Lake County.

Dist. 34 asks 3rd grade to 'Say No' to drugs

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

In a report to the Antioch Grade School Dist. 34 School Board, Dist. Supt. Donald Skidmore told the board that, based on information gathered in an informational survey completed by the district's students in grades four to eight, the district should change the focus of its "Just Say No" anti-drug and alcohol abuse program from junior high school to encompass the third and fourth grades.

"Overall, I don't believe the data is surprising. The data does suggest that the decision to use or not use drugs, including alcohol and tobacco, is made and acted upon at a very early age," Skidmore told (Continued on Page 7)

Safe kickoff into summer

Good news! There were no fatalities in Lake County over Memorial Day weekend. With only one casualty in the last three years, Lakeland Newspapers salutes Lake County drivers for their consistent efforts to ensure another safe holiday weekend.

Decision is one step closer for compost site

by STEPHANIE ENGLE
Lakeland Newspapers

All seven members of the Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals decided to recommend the proposed composting site in the Lakewood Forest Preserve in Fremont Twp. at a special review meeting Wednesday.

The board also voted for the variation request, which would make Brown Rd. the route to the entrance of the site, to be part of the ordinance.

The recommendations will now be referred to the county board for a final decision.

However, the board added conditions to both the proposed ordinance and variation before they decided to pass them.

On the variation, the board added that no trucks leaving the site may turn right onto Brown Rd. This requires the trucks to use Rte. 12 and not Ivanhoe Rd., which runs through residential areas. Board members also added that the forest preserve district, rather than the private contractors, must manage the site.

To the proposed ordinance, the board added its own set of standards. The board added set hours and dates the chipper could be in operation - 9 a.m. to noon eight days a month. Also, the site will not operate on Saturdays except in the fall and on those Saturdays, there will be no processing.

The board added that the site will be locked during hours when not in operation. Also, all trucks will be supplied with maps of the site and surrounding areas so they know where they are not allowed.

The board also felt it was very important to add that soil samples must be taken before the site opens and every three months while in operation so any adverse affects can be identified. The results of these tests will be made public.

Bill Barron, assistant county administrator for the forest preserve district, said his department will agree to these new conditions.

Board member Gloria Helke said she realizes people have legitimate concerns about the site, but all previous evidence from other sites shows the site will be safe.

The county has been trying to get a permit for the area located between Brown St., Old Rand Rd. and Ivanhoe Rd. to operate a one-year pilot project with Libertyville, Lincolnshire, Vernon Hills, Deerfield and Wauconda Twp. for composting yard waste, which will be banned from landfills as of July 1.

Members of the Homeowners Alliance for Lakewood Tranquility as well as neighbors of the site argued against the proposed site during three hearings, citing there would be problems with traffic, noise, odor and pesticides from the grass clippings in water run-off.

Libraries participate in campaign

Several Lake County libraries have information on how to improve parent-teen communication in conjunction with the "Start Talking Illinois" campaign of the Lake County Health Dept.

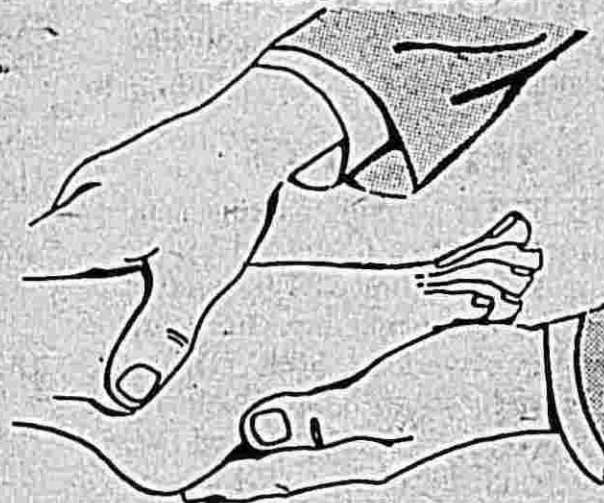

The intent of "Start Talking" is to encourage teens and their parents to talk about sensitive family topics, such as sexuality, drugs, alcohol and decision making.

The libraries are: Barrington Public Library, 505 N. Northwest Highway, Barrington; Cook Memorial Library, 413 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville; Elia Area Public Library, 135 S. Buesching Rd., Lake Zurich; Grayslake Area Public Library, 148 Center St., Grayslake; Indian Trail Public Library, 355 S. Shoenbeck Rd., Wheeling; Lake Villa Public Library, 1001 E. Trainees complete program

Thirteen local board members assigned to the Waukegan Selective Service Area Office have just completed their annual update training program. This training consisted of approximately four hours of instruction which included a refresher course on Selective Service Systems classification procedures, a review of the board member handbook and mock case files with simulated registrant personal appearances before the local board.

The trainees included John A. Amrich and Mr. Norman T. Joseph of Wauconda, William R. Hendrickson from Barrington Hills, Joel H. Cohen from Riverwoods, Dr. James M. Brophy from Ingleside, Martha

Z. Lasco from Antioch and Kenneth Robinson from North Chicago.

Although Selective Service System boards are in an inactive status, they would be responsible for deciding claims for certain classifications such as conscientious objection, hardship, and religious ministry should a draft be reinstated.

The Victory Memorial Chemical Dependency Program

708-360-HELP

Three months ago, the quiet calm of Joan and Allen Mitchell's life was shattered when they discovered that their daughter, Stephanie, had a drug problem.

The signs had been there for months: falling grades, absenteeism, moodiness, lack of respect, lying and defensiveness. Yet, the signs went unheeded. Joan and Allen thought it was just adolescence, typical teenage problems. Unfortunately, they were wrong. It was something far more serious.

Stephanie had a drug problem. The first person to recognize it was one of Stephanie's teachers, who called the Mitchells and made them aware of her concern. Fortunately, they acted quickly and sought professional help.

They turned to the specialists at the Adolescent Chemical Dependency Program at Victory Memorial Hospital. Here, they found a comprehensive program that not only helped Stephanie with her problem, but helped them understand the role that they would play in maintaining Stephanie's continued health.

Today, Stephanie is her old self, back at school and doing well. The family is stronger, closer and able to weather almost anything.

Some stories do have happy endings, and many of them begin at Victory Memorial Hospital. For complete information on our Chemical Dependency Program, or to confidentially discuss a problem confronting your family, call 708-360-HELP, anytime day or night.

Haley innocent?

ANTIOCH — Calls to Antioch Grade School Dist. 34 are demanding the removal of board of education member Ed Haley from the board based on a fact that has just come to light that Haley was convicted of the Class A misdemeanor of the sexual fondling of the teenage daughter of a friend in Libertyville. Haley claims to be innocent though the states attorneys office says he pled guilty and received a $500 fine and orders to seek counseling.

Consider ethics

PRAIRIE VIEW — A new budget and a code of ethics were discussed by the Vernon Area Public Library Dist. Board of Trustees at the latest meeting. The board tentatively approved at $9.8 million budget. The budget will be available for public inspection for a 30 day period. Dir. Allen Meier said the budget will not be levying for the auditing and working cash funds. The budget includes some $9.57 million in expenses.

Benefit for Lick

GRAYSLAKE — Chicago Bears head Coach Mike Ditka is expected to be in attendance when area residents hold a benefit fundraiser for Michael Lick of Third Lake. The June 2 fundraiser will be held at St. Gilbert's Parish Center in Grayslake. Lick is a five-year-old youngster battling cancer.

The event will run from 7 p.m. to midnight.

Help police

FOX LAKE — After a window and headlight bashing binge by a band of wine and whiskey juveniles, Mayor Frank Meier issued an appeal to parents to help police. "I also hope parents will be made to pay for the damage," declared Mayor Meier, who vowed that the village Parental Responsibility Ordinance requiring restitution would be enforced. Nine youths aged 11 to 16 caused more than $10,000 damage.

Need more wells

LAKE ZURICH — Lake Zurich officials plan to add five additional wells by 1995 to accommodate the growing population. The wells are also expected to serve commercial and industrial, as well as residential users. Consultants from the Chicago-based firm of Alford, Burdick & Howson presented trustees Tuesday with an analysis of the entire village water system. The most significant deficiency noted was an unbalanced water pressure, because all of the current four wells and storage tanks are located on the east side of town.

Family fun set

GURNEE — Warren Twp. Youth Services will be sponsoring its fourth annual Family Field Days on Sunday, June 3 at Warren Twp. Center. The fishing derby begins at 11 a.m. An afternoon of fun begins at 1 p.m. and will continue until 5 p.m.

Kidnapping hoax

ANTIOCH — The possible kidnapping and robbery of Ill. Bell employee George Webster, in Antioch, last week, has turned out to be a hoax. According to Lt. Tom Fisher of the Antioch Police Dept., after an investigation done by Fisher and Officer Mike Culat of Antioch and Illinois Bell turned up the fact that the call Webster supposedly made to the home office saying he was going on duty in Antioch was made from Chicago, Webster confessed that he had made up his kidnapping and robbery by two unknown assailants and gotten into the trunk of the telephone company car himself in order to save his job.

Pick police chief

LIBERTYVILLE — Lt. William Dan McCormick, a native of Libertyville, is the new police chief succeeding Roger Stricker, who resigned last month to accept a similar post in Auburn, Maine. A one-time sheriff's department investigator, he has been on the Libertyville force for 21 years. He also served on the Libertyville Fire Dept. as a volunteer. Mc-Cormick was selected over three other members of the department.

Septics not wanted

MUNDELEIN — Sewers, not septic tanks, are wanted by the village, which has turned down another request for a septic system on Butterfield Rd. The village wants a developer or property owner to extend a county sewer from Rte. 60 and Butterfield Rd. to serve the one-dozen properties without sewer or with septic tanks.

Tecumseh Trail link

GREEN OAKS — Another piece of the Tecumseh Trail is being acquired by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. It is acreage owned by Dresser Industries of Libertyville southwest of Rte. 176 and St. Mary's Rd. The trail, named for a Oklahoma Indian chief, will run from the Wisconsin border to Springfield, Ill.

Fox Lake Hills first to institute curbside recycling

by BECKY JOHNS
Lakeland Newspapers

Fox Lake Hills, under the guidance of its Property Owners' Assn., has become the first area in both Antioch and Lake Villa Twp. to institute curbside recycling.

"Landfills are few and far between," said Lake Villa Twp. Supv. Sue Hanson. "We have nowhere to go with our garbage."

"A big thing that's made people aware of the need for recycling is what's happening with our landfills," said Tony Ferris, president of the Fox Lake Hills Property Owners' Assn. "That barge in New York that no one wanted to take in, it was on the news every day and people started to think about what was happening."

Approximately 350 of Fox Lake Hills' 714 homes will begin the program on July 1. Ferris said the numbers were high for a new program.

"Some people just don't quite understand the need for recycling yet," said Ferris.

Fox Lake Hills recycling will be handled by Waste Management of Lake County. The recyclable materials include tin, aluminum, three colors of glass, newsprint, and milk jug plastics.

Hanson added that although the towns of Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, and Antioch have been working on curbside recycling for some time, the towns can't mandate curbside recycling for the unincorporated areas of the township.

"This is important because we're an unincorporated area," said Ferris.

Lindenhurst, which has been negotiating with Jensen Disposal, is also slated to begin curbside recycling on July 1, although the village has not yet finalized its plans.

ADVENTURE

Camping is a time for renewal

Leave the constant distraction of the TV and telephone behind. Camping gives your family time for renewal and rebirth.

A time to sit quietly by a fire and speak softly of important matters like how beautiful that sunset was or how good dinner tasted after that long afternoon hike.

Camping is a time when the lessons of pulling together for one cause are illustrated to family members in even the simple tasks like gathering firewood or fetching water.

Camping is a time for one-on-one conversations. It's a time to share ideas without the distractions and complexities of everyday life.

Teenage sexual assault

Haley conviction under wraps for three months

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

How the fact that Antioch Grade School Dist. 34 Board of Education member and former president, Ed Haley was convicted of the sexual assault of the teenage daughter of a friend in Lake County Court at the end of February escaped the eagle eye of the media that watches the court records may always be a mystery.

Lake County Assistant States Atty. Randall Stewart claims that Haley's conviction went through due process like all the other court cases with the record there for public perusal.

"Maybe the fact that the offense of bod-

Stewart: 'The fact that the offense of bodily fondling is a Class A misdemeanor could be why it took two months before the conviction became known.'

ily fondling is a Class A misdemeanor and not a felony, and also the fact that Mr. Haley pled guilty in a bench trial before Lake County Judge Albert Wisocki explains the two months it took for the conviction to become known," said Stewart.

Letters and calls to the school district last week opened up Haley's can of worms.

Many of the calls urge the board to get rid of Haley.

The Antioch News Reporter called Haley to find out if he has any intention of resigning but he did not return our call.

Reports say that Haley stopped by the home of a Libertyville friend in an obvious drunken condition and, with the parents not at home, pulled their teenage daughter onto his lap and started to fondle her breasts when the young woman broke away and went to a neighboring home for aid.

Haley, who denies pleading guilty, claims he wasn't guilty of the charge, but decided to make a no contest plea so he wouldn't have to face a full-blown trial.

The fact that a teacher in Lake County convicted of the exact same misdemeanor would have lost their license to teach has accelerated the call for Haley's resignation.

A board member can run for or remain on a school board unless he is convicted of a felony.

Board President Gail Heath was told of the conviction by Haley right after it happened, and Supt. Don Skidmore was advised of the offense more recently, but it took the phone calls to bring the matter before the board.

Skidmore and Lake County Regional Supt. of Schools Sybil Yastrow both denied having any jurisdiction in the matter.

The board itself is the only body that can decide whether or not Haley goes or stays unless he decides to resign on his own.

Haley is a member of a large, well-known Antioch family whose name has been previously in print when William Haley was convicted of being one of the biggest smugglers and distributors of marijuana in the area and also when brother Mike Haley was mayor of Antioch.

Ed Haley was given a $500 fine and sentenced to obtaining counseling by Judge Wisocki.

The petitions signed by Loon Lakes residents and property owners against the formation of Special Service Dist. 8 are still in the process of being checked over by the Lake County Administrator's office, the state's attorney's office and also the county clerk and the recorder of deeds.

According to Bill Baron of the administrator's office, the results of the petition check should be ready around June 1.

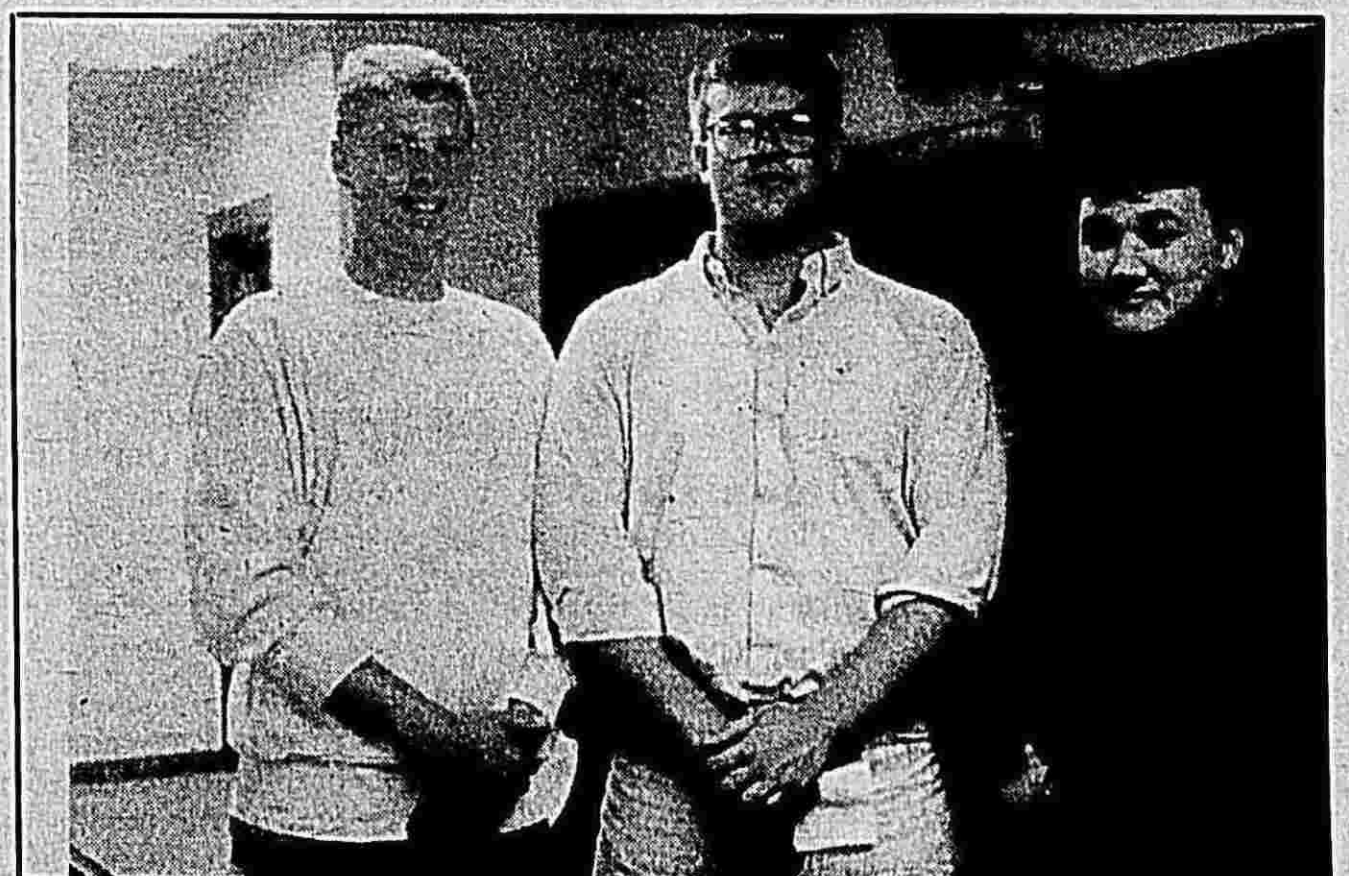

Loon Lakes property owners opposed to the formation of the special service district met the deadline for turning in petitions against the formation signed by not only 51 percent of the registered voters in the area, but also by 51 percent of the owners of land in the district in question.

The county has been checking the petitions to see that they contain the proper number of valid signatures for over a month.

If the petitions are not valid, the special service district will automatically be created.

This will set a precedent allowing the county to appoint the people that will administrate this new taxing body and also direct the use of the money in lake cleanup.

Dist. 34 lunch, milk prices up in '90-'91

Children attending Antioch Grade School Dist. 34 will be paying five cents more for their school lunches next year and kindergartners will be paying $1.75 more per half year for their milk.

In a report to the Dist. 34 Board of Education, Supt. Donald Skidmore said that the need for a five-cent per lunch raise was brought about by the "ever increasing cost of food and the lack of certain government commodities such as cheese."

The new price structure will have student lunches at $1.05, adult lunches at $1.30 and reduced lunches at 40 cents.

Although milk prices have also risen, Skidmore told the board that the school could continue selling half pints of milk for 15 cents each.

But he did ask for and got a raise in the price of milk for kindergarten students from $16.50 to $20 per year. The cost to the school for milk for kindergarten students is $21.73 annually.

Deer Trail group finds a receptive audience

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Members of the Deer Trail Road and Land Owners Assn. took their case against the Lake County Forest Preserve Board to Antioch and found at least three groups and an audience of 80 plus who had found themselves in similar predicaments.

Each citizen's organization, attorney, or individual, blasted the Forest Preserve board for its handling of land acquisition procedures in the past. The groups included Kane County residents who said they had gone through the same thing. The meeting, hosted by Antioch Twp. Property Owners Assn. (ATPOI) lasted for some two hours. The only Forest Preserve board member in attendance was James Fields of Dist. 4.

"It is a letter which sends chills down the throats of property owners," Bruce Dettlerbeck of a March 30 correspondence from the law offices of Donald T. Morrison & Associates. The day before the Land Acquisition and Preservation Committee had rejected a proposal to allow Deer Trail Land & Home Owners to build homes and have the Almond Rd. Marsh in the same area. The homeowners group had pledged to offer the Forest Preserve deeds for open space.

"We were just about ready to build. We did not think this could take place," Dettlerbeck said. Dettlerbeck explained his group's strategy, saying they are using the services of land planner Lane Kendig.

On Feb. 9, the Almond Rd. group held a meeting with the Forest Preserve Land Acquisition Committee and then again in March. President Dave Meehan said the land and home owners still hope to have a session before the full Lake County Forest Preserve Board.

Lawyer John Jursich, one of the speakers who addressed the audience at the Antioch Senior Center, said lawyers should be able to delay Forest Preserve cases until a new board is seated in December. While Jack Martin, head of a Libertyville Twp. organization which helped to defeat F.T. "Mike" Graham as supervisor, called Dec. 1 a "day of liberation" from the Forest Preserve's strategies. Roger Secrist, president of the ATPOI, said don't assume that because there is a new board troubles will go away.

"I inherited a legal quagmire," Libertyville Twp. Supv. Ralph Shwank, who defeated Graham, said.

Swank said there were 13 cases against the Libertyville Twp. Open Space Dist. when he took office. Some five cases have been dismissed by working with both parties, two were settled out of court and four are still pending and two were lost in court.

"There are two limited resources: available land and available money. We have tried to design a 'kindler and gentler' approach to land acquisition," Swank said. He added, though, that this does not mean the township has stopped aggressively seeking open space.

Swank has proposed a triangular-shaped 2,500 acre area called the Casey-Almond

Rd. Reserve. He said it would allow for multiple uses with multiple ownership.

Jack White's ecological services firm is taking an inventory of the natural resources in the area, which includes the disputed Cuneo Estate. Three of those acres are virgin prairie.

"We are very much allowing in-holdings," Swank said.

One of the benefits this plan would be taxpayers paying less, the supervisor said. The key to this strategy working is credibility with the landowner. "Without credibility we have nothing to work with," Swank said.

Former Grayslake area resident Neil Ostro, who resides in Wadsworth, was one of the many who told their dealings with the forest preserve. He said the Forest Preserve sought his 12 and 13 acre parcels and the battle cost him $80,000 in legal fees. "We settled out of court but we had 17 months of harassment," he said.

Ostro said he was advised by his attorney not to publically speak on the matter, because of consequences.

"You have to be diplomatic," he said.

Ostro said when the dealings were complete on the Grayslake area land, Morrison asked him about the possibility of acquiring part of his new Wadsworth parcel.

John Twey, an attorney, said he was able to help his sister keep her home and five acres in the Rollins Savannah parcel.

"If you get organized and turn out to vote, it can be done," Secrist said.

Karen Siege of STOP, (Stop Taking Our Property), a said a lobbyist for Lake County killed three of four pro-land owners bills in Springfield. "We changed the board in Kane County but you also have to address the laws. We had the some problem with the Forest Preserve board in Kane County. It had too much power," she said.

Representatives of FACTS (Families Against Confiscation Tactics), a Lake Barrington area organization, were also in attendance.

Fields said the Forest Preserve has exceeded the $80 million in bonds it approved for land purchases.

Blackmailing veterans
Editor:

I understand the necessity for the Village of Antioch to enforce liquor laws and security for large gatherings. However, it's outrageous that the village feels it can blackmail the VFW into holding five free events in the coming year for not-for-profit organizations. I can't believe this could even be legal.

It seems to me that this club has already contributed a great deal by virtue of the fact that they are veterans of foreign wars.

Business leadership

Motorola Inc., newest member of Lake County's corporate community, is destined to provide vitality and leadership to the local business scene in more ways than manufacturing.

The electronics giant, producing cellular telephones in Grayslake and getting ready to break ground for another plant in Libertyville, sent shock waves in all directions last week by becoming the largest U.S. corporation to adopt universal drug testing. The announcement of George Fisher, Motorola chairman and chief executive officer, had special meaning to communities where Motorola is located. "The objective of our policy is the achievement of a drug-free work force, but the additional benefit will be our ability to make a difference in the communities where we live and work."

That's good news. As we get better acquainted with Motorola, we have discovered that the company is expressing strong feelings in other areas that are important to America's future. For example, Motorola has established standards of quality and excellence that will be unmatched by any other nation yet attainable by U.S. employees. Motorola also has set its sights on becoming the premier corporation in the world by all accepted standards.

A big order, perhaps, but just the kind of thinking our nation needs to reestablish its position as a world business leader. We wish Motorola well with its drug testing program. It's going to be fun getting to know you better, Motorola.

'The Simpsons' is adult show, not for kids

by BILL SCHROEDER

Just when it looked as if the school year was going to close out on a high note, debate is raging over whether "The Simpsons" is the latest threat to education and proper upbringing of the younger generation. Bart Bashing definitely is in.

I've only viewed one episode about the banjo-eyed 10-year-old who is spilling over with smart-aleck one-liners and his ditsy family, but I've read all the news reports about school officials voicing alarm and I've talked to family members who follow television's most popular cartoon avidly.

"The Simpsons" struck me as being funny, original and clever, albeit irreverent. I can see where teenagers and the college set relate to Bart, a master of the zinger and personification of society's stereotype of hip modern youth. For some reason, I couldn't help but think of the Near-Sighted Mr. Magoo, a popular cartoon of the early 50's about a fumbling, bumbling fustbudget who meant well, but couldn't help messing up. My age group was as hooked on Mr. Magoo as today's young people are on the Simpsons.

Sure, Bart flaunts his underachievement

Importance of wetlands

Editor:

There is a wetland crisis in Illinois. In the year 1818, it was estimated that Illinois had nearly 8.2 million acres of wetland. Since that time, Illinois has lost, in proportion, nearly 90 percent of that original acreage. Today, the minimal 920,000 acres remain. Environmental groups have attempted to address the wetland loss issue in their individual counties and districts, however, a state-wide approach is necessary.

Wetlands perform numerous vital functions in terms of our environment. Such land acts as a natural biological treatment through the filtration of toxins and sediments. Wetlands protect underground water resources by recharging rivers, streams and underground water supplies. Wetlands provide habitat for 40 percent of the state's endangered species. They reduce flood damages by absorbing, storing, and conveying peak flows from storms. Wetlands also offer numerous recreational opportunities to the public, as well as providing open space and adding aesthetic quality to the land.

In 1989, the Interagency Wetland Policy Act was created and required state agencies to compensate for wetlands lost due to projects or construction. While such legislation was a step in the right direction, the wetland problem has not been resolved, and wetlands are still being lost to rapid growth.

The major challenge is creating legislation that addresses the entire wetland issue. Representative Deuchler and Representative Balanoff have joined with me to create legislation which we think will help to preserve Illinois' currently diminishing wetland acreage. Our amendment to HB3507, currently being discussed in the Illinois General Assembly, would not only establish a "no overall net loss" policy but would allow the Dept. of Conservation to oversee and monitor wetland activities. The amendment also recognizes the concerns between the private ownership sector and the State of Illinois and is not an attempt to stand in the way of new construction or projects. However, we simply do not want to lose any more wetlands, which play an intricate role in our environment.

The wetland of Illinois must be saved. We, in the legislature, must attempt to preserve this very limited, but very necessary natural resource.

Compounding gridlock

Editor:

It is interesting how, in spite of time gone by, and with new information appearing almost daily, some things never change. Municipalities can still ignore the impact of a single development on its neighbors and the environment.

CONSERVE came into being less than a year ago to represent the concerns of the northwest section of unincorporated (Continued on next page)

Ignoring reality

County bashing may play well for the gallery, but village officials who engage in this pastime more often than not come off looking silly when all the facts are known.

That was the case when Trustee Kenneth Hamsher of Fox Lake sputtered about the "County Board's attempt to control everybody's destiny." Hamsher was fuming over the reminder to village officials of Lake Villa that the county requires review of expansion plans of municipalities belonging to regional sewer networks, in this case the Northwest Regional Sewer system which funnels sewage to Fox Lake for treatment.

If he had bothered to check the facts, Hamsher would have discovered that the requirement is logical and designed to prevent any single member from overloading the system and thereby impinging on the health and safety of neighboring communities.

By questioning county review, Lake Villa officials either don't know how the regional system works or they, too, are huffing and puffing to look good in the minds of the home folks. Lake Villa really isn't any different than any other Lake County municipalities in facing the reality that individual treatment works aren't the answer to local sanitation problems. The regional system has strings attached, but requirements aren't designed to prevent growth, as Hamsher seems bent out of shape about.

Nearby Round Lake Beach, in fact, is a good example of how a community can expand and prosper when it has the infrastructure support of the regional sanitary system. Lake Villa Mayor Joyce Frayer is more than correct when she says joining the county system is Lake Villa's first choice. Indeed, it's the only choice.

Fortunately, county officials are good humored when it comes to village officials sounding off. Little or no attention is paid to village council outbursts. If Public Works Dept. officials took every critic to heart they wouldn't get very far doing their job, providing for the health and safety of all citizens.

Overhaul multiplier, appraisal systems

by SANDER P. STAGMAN

My 1989 real estate tax bill jumped 56%, an increase of $2,274. This means I have to earn an additional $7,335 to stay even. With my new larger tax figure, the annual 10 - 12% increase will be even greater next year, and up and up and up. How high was your tax increase and how will you manage?

The only remedy, according to the politicians, is for the taxpayers to monitor more closely the budgets of the taxing bodies. That is a tap dance. Monitor the budgets is fine and true, but, I say the real culprit is the subjective method the assessor values our property and the kangaroo court system of appeals.

I went through the appeals process in Lake County, showing an appraisal drawn up two years ago. This appraisal was ruled invalid because the assessor's value was more current and a lot higher. No compromise was considered. In fact, the appeals officers' minds were made up in advance. I felt they were there to validate the assessor's figure. It was nice that they let me talk and spend a few minutes of their valuable time.

No political candidate in either party has been a taxpayer's advocate. None has used his/her position to help the taxpayer circumvent this travesty. None has spoken out. It takes "political stones" and a receptive press to get the ball rolling, to turn this tax spiral around. Families need help to preserve the way of life that we all have worked so hard to gain.

I propose that the state multiplier be reduced, that the exemption be increased, even tripled, and that the tax rate be reduced. If nothing else, let the property be appraised at the "eminent domain" value. After all, isn't the property's true value what the government would pay upon seizure? Who knows, if real estate taxes keep rising, "property seizure value" may become the common term used in the future.

Our schools, parks and municipalities need adequate money to function. A principle of governmental accounting is to build up the budget to reflect expected tax revenue, also to build up the budget to anticipate cuts. This current property tax increase is now abusive and we should vote in tax relief advocates and vote out those who have shown or who have stated that tax relief is not part of their job description or priorities.

Editor's note: Sander Stagman is a tax accountant who resides in Highland Park. He is the Democratic nominee for county treasurer in the November election. He previously ran unsuccessfully for sheriff.

Politically Speaking

LETTER PERFECT—By now everyone has read enough letters from F.T. "Mike" Graham to know there is hardly a subject about which he doesn't have an opinion.

Graham, the former Libertyville Twp. supervisor and current Dist. 5 County Board representative, is particularly prolific when it comes to several topics. He's a bear on open space, a bulldog when it comes to state Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and a bull when talking about developers.

His letters are at least one page, sometimes a little more. They are generally factual and flawlessly typed.

"How do you do it?" I asked Graham about his letter-perfect letters. "Do you have a secretary?"

"No," Graham admitted, "my son has a computer."

ALL IN THE NAME—It's hard to miss Lake County Sheriff Clinton Grinnell at a gathering. Even if no one knows who he is before they arrive, they will before they leave.

Grinnell doesn't stand out because of his robust size. Rather, it is his name plate. The 4-inch customized I.D. dangles from his vest pocket like an Army general's campaign medals.

"I got it from a company that makes badges advertised in a magazine," the sheriff said. "I decided to order it after going to so many functions, filling out a name tag and then having it fall off."

ROUGHING IT—Employees at the Mundelein Village Hall had to bring their own water to work for two days earlier this month. They also had to use portable toilets.

That's because there was neither at their workplace.

A new sewer was installed. During the two-day project all utilities were shut off.

IRISH CONFUSION—Looking toward the fall election and the Republican ballot, you will have two Ryans to vote for.

First, there is Jim Ryan, the candidate for attorney general. Then, there is George Ryan, who is running for secretary of state.

"No, I don't think there will be any confusion," the attorney general candidate admitted when asked about this during a visit to Lake County earlier this month. "As a matter of fact, both of us are hoping it will help us get elected."

FBI IS BACK—One year ago the FBI was a regular visitor in the Libertyville Twp. office. There was talk that former Supv. F.T. "Mike" Graham would be indicted. It had to do with the way he asked welfare recipients for their political support.

The case seemed to dry up and almost go away. Surprise! FBI agents were back at the township office two weeks ago.

"You know darn well they weren't checking on Ralph Swank Jr.," my source said about the new township supervisor.

MORE GOP JOBS—There's more Republican precinct committeeman jobs where Bob Neal's came from. Neal, as you may know, was defeated as a committeeman last March in his home base of Newport Twp. So party Chairman Robert Churchill assigned him a committeeman vacancy in largely Democratic Waukegan Twp.

This allows Neal access to party records, meetings and perks.

There are more such appointments coming. Committeemen loyal to Neal and Churchill knocked off in the March primary will also be assigned to openings in Waukegan Twp.

"Our job is to help turn the Democratic vote around," said one insider.

How he or other appointees can conveniently work a Waukegan precinct while living on the opposite end of the county remains a mystery.

Libertyville Twp. Our goals are and have been to protect some of Libertyville's finest rural environment and to follow proposed transportation changes which could have a deleterious impact on it.

On July 11, 1989, we expressed our concerns to the Village of Libertyville. We asked the village not to support the extension of Butterfield Rd. north of Rte. 137. This would be a new four lane road that would cut through sensitive environmental areas. The board's response was that the extension was necessary to ease traffic congestion on Milwaukee Ave.

Apparently the village still expects a Butterfield Rd. extension to bail them out of their gridlock. In the meantime, how has the village addressed the Milwaukee Ave overcrowding? According to the plan commission, by adding to it. They voted 5-2 to allow a zoning change for a downtown bank to be built. This downtown Libertyville bank will have 10 drive-up bays to accommodate banking by car in downtown Libertyville and spilling thousands of cars onto an already congested road.

The village has repeatedly stated that open space needs can be addressed through zoning. The recent decision on the bank building is a perfect example of how zoning decisions can have a negative impact on the environment. Like many other environmental issues the problem needs to be addressed at its source. The village cannot look to other residential neighborhoods to solve the problems on Milwaukee Ave.

Water being 'poisoned'

Editor:

The proposed compost pile in Wauconda is practically in my backyard. Not only will it be unsightly and smelly, it is also possible that the chemicals on the lawn clippings could become a danger to my family's drinking water.

The village is not concerned about the water supply, their sources being far enough removed from the compost pile so worry is diminished. What about the residents outside of the village who, since they cannot use city sewer and water, must sink their own wells, considerably closer to the compost pile?

Wauconda residents don't have the right to deposit their grass clippings or leaves in this pile, yet we must accept the threat of the chemicals used to spray lawns getting into our drinking water. I am vehemently against having those poisons in my drinking water, and the compost pile in Wauconda.

Bill would save money

Editor:

I would encourage your newspaper and all area residents to call for Illinois Senate approval of HB3167, which would address three serious problems faced by the state. The bill would allow Illinois inmates who would be released in any case to "learn their way out" of prison a little earlier by learning to read and achieving other specific educational goals.

It would cost the taxpayers nothing, since we already pay millions to provide education programs for inmates. But it would motivate the inmates to take those programs seriously. We would have fewer illiterate prisoners being released into society; more ex-cons would have the self-esteem they need to avoid a return to crime.

Second, this legislation would also slow the growth of our inmate population, which has gone over 26,000—about 40 percent beyond the rated capacity of our prison system.

And finally, by relieving the problem of prison over-crowding, this bill would save the taxpayers tens of millions of dollars each year. It costs $50 million to build a 750-bed prison, and $20 million per year (nearly $18,000 per inmate) to operate one. This legislation would save millions of dollars that could be used for other state priorities—such as public education.

HB3167 was initiated by the Illinois Assn. of Regional Superintendents of Schools, the only educational organization to propose legislation which can save tax dollars, rather than cost the taxpayers more money, in the coming fiscal year.

I am proud to be an active member of the IARSS, and I hope area residents will join me in support of HB3167.

The bill passed the House of Representatives by a 109-0 vote last week. It now needs only the approval of the Senate to be sent to Gov. James Thompson to be signed into law.

Abortion study a lie

Editor:

The latest so-called neutral study on the benefits of abortion by Alan Guttmacher Institute is a classic example of propaganda through statistics. First, to call this a neutral study is a lie. The Guttmacher Institute is intimately associated with Planned Parenthood and the abortion industry. Their study is no more impartial than a study on the benefits of tobacco smoking by Phillip Morris or R.J. Reynolds.

Second, the report calls abortion an "extremely safe procedure." This ignores the often severe medical side effects including internal bleeding and lifelong sterility. In addition, lifelong psychological trauma can be involved.

Third, when the report says that abortion can be credited with declines in maternal and infant mortality, it is clearly forgetting someone. It is said, "Half the people who go into an abortion clinic never come out alive!" This dramatizes the fact that in every abortion a person is murdered. This has been confirmed medically and scientifically, even in senate hearings.

Women in crisis pregnancies need real help, not further exploitation. Crisis Pregnancy Centers offer free help. Abortion clinics exploit women for a profit.

Disguising new taxes

Editor:

With federal budget cuts, many municipalities are scrambling to find alternate revenue sources. Users fees have been suggested by various governmental officials as one possibility. When relating to utilities some communities are simply disguising taxes, renaming them as "user fees."

In Lindenhurst, residents are taxed for a sanitary district. When billing residents, the village has established a "minimum fee" for combined sewer and water. With rampant over development, the water source is alleged to be a concern. Water bans have resulted. A request for "voluntary conservation" has recently been made by one village trustee, which has some residents wondering.

The highest form of conservation would have to be zero use. For one Lindenhurst resident, during the time from Dec. 15 to Feb. 15, zero usage was the case. In gratitude for conservation during this time, the resident was charged $55.45 for "sewer and water," while paying taxes for a sanitary district! This is some incentive plan Lindenhurst uses to promote water conservation.

In applying for a low interest loan to build a new sewage plant, the Illinois EPA informed that to qualify, their "minimum fee" billing procedure was not allowed. The village indicated a "user fee" plan would be implemented. The sewage plant construction began, but the minimum charge continues to be assessed unfairly or illegally against the residents. Perhaps this would better be described as a "conservation tax."

Protecting your plantings from cicadas

by ERIC WIDITZ
Landesign Nursery and Garden Center

Beginning late this month and continuing for only one month, millions of periodical cicadas (si-kay-dahs), commonly called 17-year locusts, will emerge from quarter-sized holes in the ground. It is the misnomer "locust" which strikes terror in the heart of the homeowner, who can visualize his trees, lawn and garden being consumed by a swarm of Biblical proportions. But, in fact, the amount of damage that the cicadas can inflict is minimal and preventable.

You will know that they are there because you will hear them and see them. The males attract the females with a distinctive serenade of clicking noises produced with specifically adapted hard plates on their upper bodies. You will never forget their sound. The insects exiting from your lawn, and your neighbors', are actually nymphs, or immature adults, who will immediately seek trees or other upright surfaces, usually no more than a few hundred yards from where they rested, winter and summer, about a foot underground. The last time they were above ground was in the summer of 1973 (Watergate, remember?); if you live in a new development, an area that was open field or pasture, or one with a lot of concrete or asphalt paving, it is likely that you will not see many of the cicadas or the translucent brown shells that the nymphs leave behind, after they split these skins, dry for a day in the sun, and emerge as winged adults, ready to ascend to the trees and mate. (Years later, you will still find the skins adhered to shingles and tree trunks. They make marvelous anatomy specimens for your kids). But if you have an old yard, or live very near some mature woodlands, you will soon observe them, sort of the pug-dogs of the insect world, with flattened faces and prominent eyes, brownish black in color, and trimmed in orange, about an inch long, with transparent wings.

Neither the nymphs nor the males can damage your plantings. The culprits are the females, who seek small twigs and branches, slit the tender bark, and lay their eggs. These twigs tend to dry out, or are so weakened that they break off in strong winds. A small tree or shrub may not be able to survive extensive tip damage and or could be misshapened by it. So if you have recently planted fruit trees or young shade trees with trunk diameters less than 1 1/2", or have young shrubs, the best protection is immediate stretching of cheesecloth, burlap, screening or other fine mesh over and around your plantings. Take care to close off access to the trunk to prevent the females from crawling up the stem to exercise their maternal duties. The key is to keep the females away from the tender and juicy branches and twigs for the next few weeks. By the time the fireworks go off for the Fourth of July, the danger will be mostly past. The eggs will be hatching, and tiny larval cicadas will drop to the ground, tunnel in, and begin the long wait. The next time they emerge, here in northern Illinois, it will be in the 21st century. By then your plantings will have matured enough to survive handily.

For more information on how to properly protect young trees and shrubs call Eric Widitz at (708)526-4313.

Easy deck landscaping

Deck landscaping is simple and inexpensive if you follow some basic rules. Since decks are generally constructed of wood it is important that only plastic containers be used otherwise you risk damage or discoloration to the wood from water leaching through clay or other porous materials.

Also, for outdoor container gardening, plastic planterware maintains moisture twice as long as other materials, important during those hot summer days.

Be sure vegetable and flower plants receive enough sunlight. Because their rooting material is smaller and more self-contained than in a garden, they need more water and fertilizer.

Make your own moss-filled basket

by ALEX CHRISTIAN
Lakeland Newspapers

Materials Needed:

- Wire basket
- Sphagnum moss (enough to loosely fill the basket)
- Soil mix
- Plants
- Bowl and water (for wetting moss)

Put the moss in a bowl of water to soak. Squeeze the water from a piece of moss 6" sq. and fold in half, mossy side out.

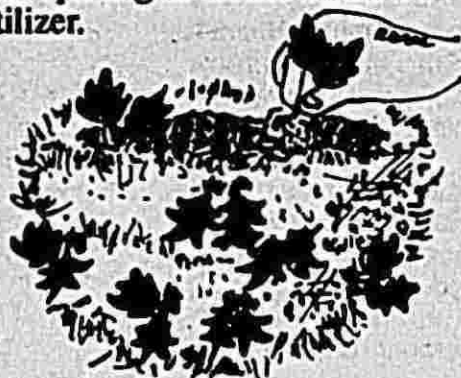

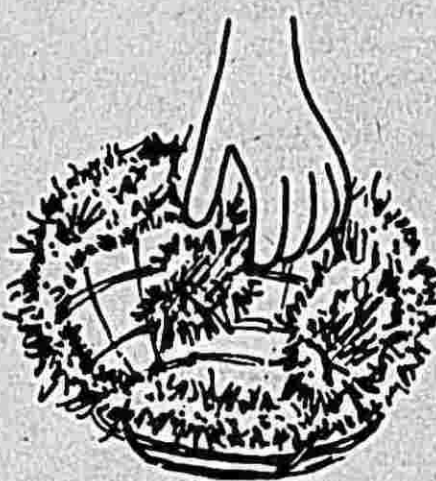

Fit the moss between the top two wires of the basket by squeezing it down. Let it go and its springiness will hold it in place.

Repeat all around the basket. You'll have a neatly packed collar around the top of the basket. Line the rest of the basket with generous pieces of moss. Overlap enough so no soil can leak through.

Put about 1 1/2" of moist soil mix in the bottom. Poke your fingers through from both sides and insert each plant so that its rootball lies on the soil mix. Cover with an inch or 2 of soil when the first row is in place. Keep adding plants and soil until you reach the top.

At last, fill all but about an inch of the basket with soil mix and plant the top as you would a flower pot. Use several plants with about the same spacing as on the sides. Be sure to give the plants a 'good drink' of water-soluble fertilizer.

Wire lined with sphagnum moss in baskets gives the basket maker the chance to build a living bouquet. The moss has the natural green garden look most gardeners find appealing. One drawback, the moss container requires a lot of water, so you can't forget about it. Experiment, and try different wire shapes and containers. It's easy and oh so beautiful!

What you should know about tillers

More and more home gardeners are turning to the roto tiller to take a new and more fruitful automated approach to gardening chores that have long been associated with the rake, spade, hoe and other commonly used hand tools.

Tillers are more than just sod-busters used twice a year for groundbreaking. Many of today's state-of-the-art tillers can be used for power composting, succession planting, weed control and other gardening tasks.

Here are some tips to keep in mind when selecting the proper tiller for your needs:

1. Compare the differences between front tine and area tine models. Although smaller, lighter and less expensive, front tine tillers do not have as many capabilities as rear tine tillers, and they also have several disadvantages.

Front tine units often do not have enough power or control for tines to dig into hard soil without skittering over the ground and lurching ahead without really digging. Because they must be controlled from directly behind, with both hands, clutching the handlebars, you can't avoid leaving footprints or wheelmarks.

2. Make sure the tiller has perfect balance, for easier operation and more efficient tilling. Ideally, the engine in front should counterbalance the tines in the rear.

3. Check for powered wheels to keep an even, comfortable pace.

4. Look for hand controls that are easy to reach and use.

5. Make sure the tiller you select is rugged, durable, provides care-free performance and has enough capabilities to fit your needs and extend its value.

Colonial completes Fox Lake buy

First Colonial Bankshares Corp., Chicago, has completed its previously announced acquisition of Fox Lake State Bank, announced holding company chairman and chief executive officer, C. Paul Johnson.

With assets of $70 million, the acquisition marks the group's continued expansion into Lake County following the opening of the de novo bank, First Colonial Bank of Lake County, Vernon Hills, in August of 1988.

"The acquisition of Fox Lake State Bank, which has consistently demonstrated strong earnings and a high quality loan portfolio, gives us the opportunity to penetrate the promising far north Lake County communities," said Johnson.

The acquisition brings the holding company's assets to $1.43 billion with 14 banks and 20 Chicago and suburban locations.

All First Colonial Banks are committed to community banking, and while all banks belong to the same holding company, each is managed by its own president. First Colonial has announced that Gerald O'Sullivan, an Ingleside resident and community leader, will continue to serve as president and chief operating officer at Fox Lake State Bank.

The bank, which has been a member of the Fox Lake Community for 36 years, will retain its name while introducing more services in the upcoming months including trust, full brokerage, commercial leasing and asset-based lending through its affiliation with First Colonial. Bank officials are currently interviewing members of the community for positions on a newly established bank board of directors.

Annexation gets OK, Phill's Beach closes

For now, at least, Ray Beck has the tentative approval of Wauconda trustees to annex four acres into the village.

Appointed

Claude M. Smith has been appointed to the State Bank of Antioch Board of Directors. Smith is president of Antioch Gasket & Mfg. Co. and secretary-treasurer of Nu-Way Speaker Products, Inc. of Antioch, a firm started by his father, Claude D. Smith, in 1952 in Franklin Park.

Beck wants to expand his business, Beck Face Brick and Stone Company, onto the parcel located along Rte. 12 north of Bonner Rd.

The village board will meet on June 5 and is expected to approve Beck's proposal at that time.

In other village news, Phill's Beach closed this month.

According to sources, the present owners of the beach property said it was a combination of the insurance rates, the shorter season and the cool weather last year that drove Phill's Beach out of business.

Peterson honored

Anne Peterson, a 41-year elementary school teacher with Wauconda Dist. 118, will be honored by her past students and friends at a picnic in her honor on June 3 from 3-7 p.m. The picnic will be held at Lindy's Landing.

Insuring confidence

Osmond Insurance insures and assures

by STEPHANIE ENGLE
Lakeland Newspapers

Because his insurance agency is a smaller operation, Tim Osmond believes his customers can feel comfortable asking questions and feel assured they won't always try to be sold something.

"We try to help people understand insurance. That's why half of what we do is educate them about insurance and potential for loss," Osmond says.

This has always been the philosophy of the Osmonds.

"We have always been concerned with helping people learn about alternatives and solutions to protect and secure their assets," Osmond assures.

Osmond's father, Bernard Osmond, started the company in 1954 as Osmond Realty and Insurance on Main St. in Antioch. Tim Osmond took over the business in 1976 and changed to insurance only because "insurance is confusing and I want to help people understand it," Osmond says.

In 1985, Osmond moved the agency to its current location at 976 Hillside Ave., Antioch.

Business has been very good and Osmond attributes this to a steady growth in customers.

"Most of our new customers are referred to us by old customers, plus we have an excellent retention rate of old customers," Osmond said.

Osmond, who was born and raised in Antioch, feels his community involvement helps business.

"Since I work and live in the community, people realize I am interested in the community's welfare," Osmond asserts.

Osmond is First Lieutenant on the Antioch Rescue Squad and is vice president of the Antioch Rotary Club. He is also active in other community groups.

"Being part of the community allows me to understand that people need individual insurance plans fit for them," Osmond says.

Osmond Insurance sells all lines of insurance, with emphasis on individual insurance, like car and home protection, and small business insurance.

The agency, which serves the Chain-O-Lakes region, employs five licensed insurance producers.

Osmond also points out he tries to stay abreast of new trends and arising problems in the insurance business. He has completed an advanced education program for insurance agents and is now titled a certified insurance counsellor. To retain this certification, he attends a 24-hour class each year.

"Not many agents do this so we feel this gives us an edge over other agencies," Osmond emphasizes.

As for the future, Osmond says no major changes are in store.

He said, "We may expand into another office but we're not sure yet. All we know is we are going to keep running things as they are now."

Financial advice to help you get started

If you're venturing out on your own for the first time, you have a lot of work ahead of you. For example, do you know how to build a budget, choose a savings account, or establish credit? And what do you need to know before you sign a rental lease? In conjunction with National Consumers Week, the Illinois CPA Society offers some easy-to-understand answers to these sometimes baffling questions.

Creating a Budget

An effective budget is the surest way to gain control of your financial life and build savings. Start by listing all monthly expenses, including such fixed and semi-fixed costs as rent, insurance premiums, automobile and educational loans, utility bills, and commuter expenses. Your fixed expenses should also include a savings factor. CPAs strongly recommend that you set aside at least 10 percent of your take-home pay into some type of savings account or investment.

To be accurate, your list of expenses must also include estimates of variable expenses, such as those for auto repairs, and, of course, entertainment and travel. Remember, if your budget is too rigid, you probably won't stick to it.

Another expense that people sometimes forget to consider when developing budgets is tax liability. The key to avoiding this problem is determining the proper amount of withholding. Remember, the amount of money withheld from your paycheck for taxes is determined by the W-4 form you file with your employer. To ensure that you're setting aside a sufficient amount of money for taxes, double-check your withholding calculations.

After you've listed your monthly expenses, calculate your monthly income, including salaries and any dividends or interest payments that you receive on a regular basis. Now compare your income total to your expense total. If you are spending more than you're making, you will have to start from scratch and adjust your budget accordingly.

Savings Account

A little knowledge can go a long way in helping you choose the right savings account. To make an informed decision, you must understand how interest is compounded, evaluate the annual yields offered by various accounts, and investigate the type of fees the institution can charge.

The term 'compounding' means that your interest is periodically added to your savings, so that your interest earns more interest. Interest can be compounded in any number of ways: daily, monthly, semi-annually, or annually. In general, the shorter the compounding period, the more total interest you earn on the account.

Another factor to consider is the "effective annual yield," which provides a more accurate gauge for those shopping for the best savings account. This figure reflects the impact that compounding has on the annual interest rate. By comparing effective annual yields between two or more accounts, you can get a good idea of how hard your money will be working.

Before making a final decision, make sure you find out whether the institution imposes restrictions on or charges fees for establishing, maintaining, or terminating your account. Other items that may take a bite out of your savings include penalties for low balances or early withdrawals and automatic-teller transaction fees.

Establishing credit

To establish credit, apply for a credit card with a single purpose, such as a department store or a gasoline company. Contact the store or companies where you make the most purchases and apply to those with the lowest interest rates. If your application is approved, your credit limit will, as a rule, start off low, perhaps as low as $500.

Keep in mind that obtaining a credit card does not automatically establish a credit rating. In order to build a credit history, you must use your credit card and demonstrate a pattern of timely payment.

After a period of charging and repaying your debts, you will be ready to apply for a national bank credit card such as MasterCard or Visa. Your chances for approval may be best at the financial institution where you opened your savings and checking accounts. Be selective in choosing the right form of credit to meet your borrowing needs. The right choice can help you save a significant amount of money. If you use your credit mainly for convenience and pay your bills in full each month, look for a card with no annual fee and a long grace period.

Breaking new ground

Local leaders and developers attend the groundbreaking ceremonies for Covenant Cove, a new residential development in Winthrop Harbor. The development, planned by Cavin Investments Inc., will be built on Russell Rd. east of Rte. 41 and will include single family units, attached homes, and a retail center. The business of Education: A Question of Survival

Editor's Note: In this three-part series by Lakeland Newspapers, the business of education has been analyzed and conclusions drawn regarding what must be done for our educational system to survive in today's society. In this last segment, Lakeland takes a close look at priorities which must be followed by our educational system to offset increasing costs and other variables relating to education today.

by MARY KAY FISHER
Lakeland Newspaper

If you think education is expensive, consider the cost of ignorance:

- It costs some $14,000 a year to keep a prisoner in jail. 62% of all prison inmates are high school dropouts.
- The government spends an average of $4,300 a year for each welfare family. Over half of the heads of these households are high school dropouts.
- The National Education Association estimates about $75 billion is spent each year to provide for dropouts and their families through unemployment benefits, welfare, crime and crime prevention costs, and lost tax revenues.
- Corporations spend about $210 billion every year on what Xerox CEO David Kearns calls "the product recall work" of the school, teaching illiterate workers basic reading, writing and arithmetic.

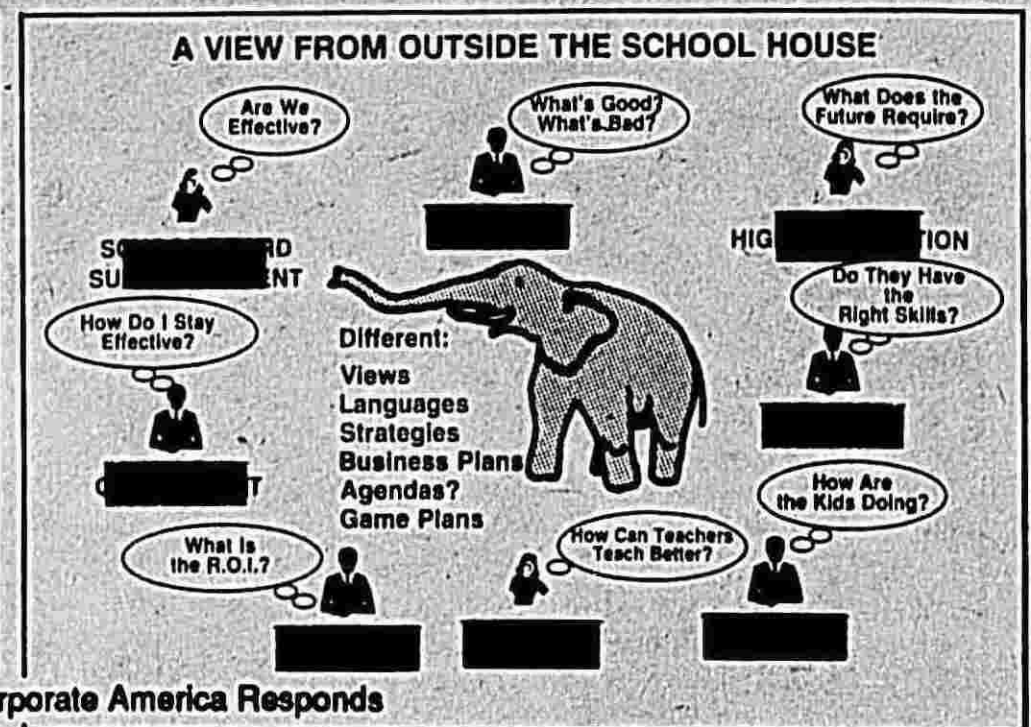

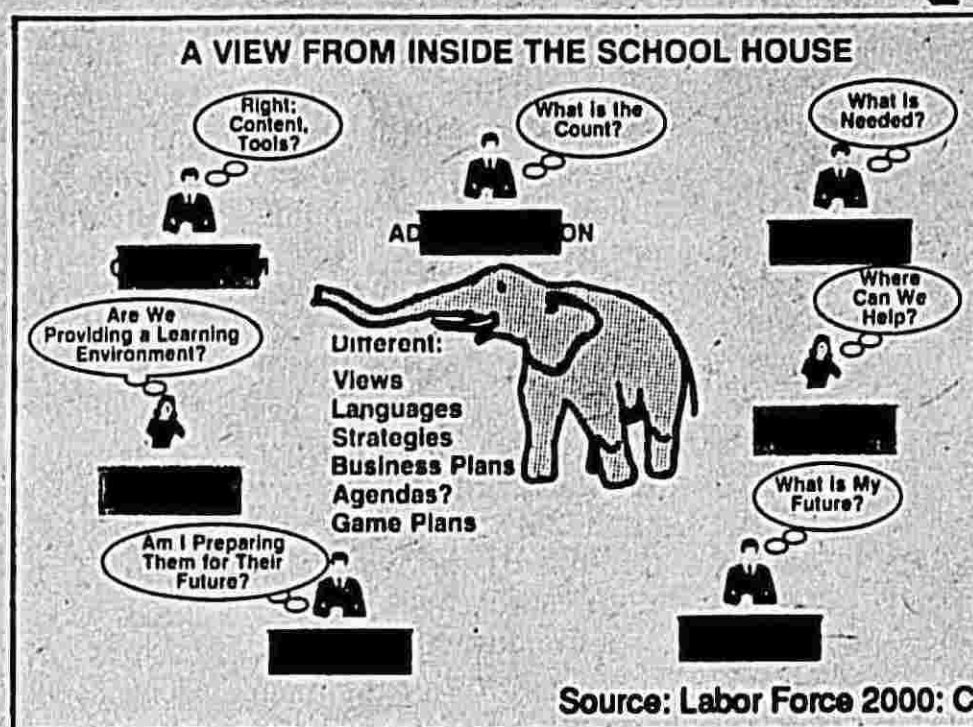

In short, the money we fail to spend on education today will be spent mopping up the consequences tomorrow. That is the growing consensus among education, business, and community leaders as they struggle to meet the demands of the 21st century.

On February 8 and 9, 1989, the Allstate Forum on Public Issues gathered representatives from hundreds of major U.S. corporations to address the education crisis. The resulting report, "Labor Force 2000: Corporate America Responds," provides a rationale for business investment in the schools, as well as a blueprint for change.

"The need for school reform has come about not only because schools have failed at something, but also because times and needs have changed," the report states. "Businesses are also under pressure to reform and restructure in order to respond to a rapidly changing world economy. Schools and business are in the same boat."

The problem is, the marketplace and its future workers are rowing in opposite directions. Consider these projections:

- One million young people, about 25%, drop out of high school every year; rates approach 50% in some inner cities.
- Of the 2.4 million who graduate, as many as 25% cannot read or write at the eighth-grade level, according to some estimates.

- The number of young workers entering the labor force will decline by 10% over the next 15 years.
- Non-whites, women, and immigrants will make up more than five-sixths of the net additions to the workforce by the year 2000.

projected increase in jobs available by 2010 as compared to 1985. If every one of the 85,000 students currently enrolled in Lake County schools were to graduate, there still wouldn't be enough workers to fill the need.

A work force decreasing in size and declining in competence facing an ever more complex and demanding job market means that no one will win: illiterate workers will go begging for jobs at the same time that businesses go begging for competent help.

What can be done to get the marketplace and its workers rowing in the same direction? The report of the Allstate Forum on Public Issues states, "What's needed is an educational vision for the Information Age as powerful as the one Adam Smith developed for the Industrial Age; a vision of the education system that coincides with the vision of the economic system."

Assist Education Reform

Education reform is a top priority of the Lake County National Business/Industry Education Consortium. The keynote speaker at the group's May meeting was Marvin Doubet, Math Dept. Chairman at Lake Forest High School and statewide Director of "Leading Math Into the 21st Century," a national program to create awareness of the need for changes in math education.

"The thrust of this program," says Doubet, "is math education for all students, not just the brightest, not just the slowest, but all students. That's what our existence depends upon as we go down the road."

Doubet tells the story of the Martian who came to visit. When he returned home, they asked him about the schools. He said, "I find that schools are places where teachers work very hard and students come to watch." That's something that's got to change.

Research shows conclusively that the passive learner, unconnected to other children, not involved in meaningful activities, cannot learn as well. NBIEC is committed to promoting the use of manipulatives, group activities and cooperative learning.

Next on the agenda is development of a math activities program to help Doubet achieve his goal of revitalizing the teaching of mathematics.

Develop a Dialogue

"This isn't an area that's jumped on the bandwagon as far as business/school cooperation. As schools look at the community's role and communities expect more from schools, that has to change," says Warren Township High School Principal Patrick McMahon.

The NBIEC and LCL, as well as community leaders and school board members across the county, are trying to develop a constructive dialogue to define expectations and propose solutions.

Doubet calls for the "Five C's": communication, collaboration, cooperation, commitment and consensus. "We don't have any one of those things in any advanced stage yet," says Doubet.

Change Attitudes

The public needs to re-learn the value of education. Business needs to stop seeing its employees' family obligations as competitive and a threat, and understand that they too have a vested interest in stable families and well cared for children.

Yastrow says, "I'd like to see business work hard in their communities to convince their employees why they should be supporting schools with referendums, involvement in school boards, etc. Businesses have got to be supportive of their employees doing that. Do they give them release time to do that sort of activity? They all have PR people. Why can't they develop a PR campaign for us in the county: why education is important; why you have to support your kids; why we're concerned about at-risk students."

'The need for school reform has come about not only because schools have failed at something, but also because times and needs have changed. Businesses are also under pressure to reform and restructure in order to respond to a rapidly changing world economy. Schools and business are in the same boat.'—Labor Force 2000: Corporate America Responds

On the other hand:

- Over the next decade, most school districts in Lake County, and the State of Illinois as a whole, will be serving increasing numbers of poverty-level, non-English-speaking, and physically or emotionally handicapped students.

- Lake County now ranks third in the state in number of dropouts, as well as third in number of teen pregnancies.

On the other hand:

- Rapid changes in the nature of the job market dictate that the fastest-growing jobs will be in professional, technical, and sales fields requiring the highest education and skill levels. Between now and the year 2000, for the first time in history, a majority of all new jobs will require postsecondary education.

- 41% of all projected new jobs are in the three highest skill groups, compared to only 24% of current jobs.

- In Lake County there is a 20%

clining in competence facing an ever more complex and demanding job market means that no one will win: illiterate workers will go begging for jobs at the same time that businesses go begging for competent help.

What can be done to get the marketplace and its workers rowing in the same direction? The report of the Allstate Forum on Public Issues states, "What's needed is an educational vision for the Information Age as powerful as the one Adam Smith developed for the Industrial Age; a vision of the education system that coincides with the vision of the economic system."

Business and community leaders define five sets of priorities:

Explore Creative Funding

At present only 10% of corporate contributions to education go to elementary and secondary schools. The Allstate Forum wants this to change. "Guidelines and policy revisions to broaden educational support through contributions, employee-matching gifts and volunteer programs should be considered."

Educational systems should utilize corporate aid as part of their own ongoing commitment to fiscal responsibility. "Corporate budgets should be temporary gap fillers - not permanent substitutes for a school system's own lack of fiscal commitment."

Although such grants are supplementary, "they must be substantive - going beyond a mere veneer of involvement for public image sake."

At-Risk Students

"Lake County Learns," the business/school partnership founded by Regional Superintendent of Schools Sybil Yastrow, set itself a goal: by the year 2000, all Lake County sixth grade students will be at grade level in all academic areas, particularly in reading and math. Projects in the pipeline include a mini-grant program in which districts apply for small grants of $2,000 to $4,000 to try innovative strategies to assist at-risk students; a campaign to publicize the need for keeping students in school; and an alternative high school program for at-risk 14 and 15 year olds to be held at the Lake County Vocational Center, involving computer assisted learning, seminars and a hands-on vocational component, to which business could contribute speakers, summer internships, employment opportuni-

Film Review

Fans of Robin Williams' faster than the speed of light humor might have to get used to the easier and more charming style of comedy he uses in "Cadillac Man."

Williams plays a sleazy car salesman who has an ex-wife, two girlfriends and problems with his teenage daughter.

Add to these the fact that he is about to lose his job, and you have a serious situation that doesn't compare to the stress of having the "Mob" after him to pay a big financial debt.

Tim Robbins, who is becoming type cast as a sort of crazy but lovable culprit, literally crashes the party by bursting through the window of the dealer's showroom on a motorcycle with an AK-47 blazing, demanding to know who is having an affair with his wife.

From then on, as the hilarious hostage scene erupts, the comedy belongs to the whole cast, lead but not overshadowed by "Mr. Vietnam."

This one has a lot of funny moments. We give it four points out of five.

Video-TV

Well America's favorite tv show "America's Funniest Videos" has come up with the big winners. This video buff was holding her breath when they had the 20-second shot of a sleeping cat falling off a tv set in the finals. I thought that this was probably the dumbest of all the weekly winners. But the audiences that voted did good! Not only was the baseball player falling over a fence backwards and losing his pants when they got caught on the fence, a once in a lifetime shot (not one that can be set up as so many are), but it was funny to boot.

Speaking of funny videos, your columnist's son, who has been wielding a video camera since way before "videography" became popular, had some of his on the Milwaukee version of the network show.

He sent them to Milwaukee feeling he had a better chance after he heard that "America's Funniest" gets 1,000 tapes a day to wade through.

Some of the local tapes go to the big show so we'll see!

Well thank goodness taste and morality seem to have triumphed once more! Now that a little time has elapsed since Andrew Dice Clay's controversial appearance on "Saturday Night Live," allowing the final verdicts to come in, it seems Clay's performance is being called worse than expected by tv critics, even to invading the performances of Saturday Night's regulars.

Reports are also that many who tuned in at the beginning were grabbing for their remotes to change channels before too long. Kudos to Sinead O'Connor and Norma Dunne for refusing to appear with "The Dice Man!"

Now on the video rental shelves this week are "Crime and Punishment," "The Fabulous Baker Boys," "Back to the Future Part II," and "Sex Lies and Videotapes."

Best of this bunch is "Baker Boys" which drew kudos from the critics when it played on the big screen based on Michelle Pfeiffer's "fabulous" performance.

The kids might find "Future II" worth rental prices, and excellent performances by Jane Spader and cast do not erase the perverted feeling prevailing in "Sex, Lies."

Frozen desserts

Hot or cold, simple or elaborate, dessert is the climax of an enjoyable meal. It is something sweet and special, withheld until the last to heighten the anticipation.

Frozen banana pops

Fun for the summer and the kids. Easy to prepare and enjoy.

- 1 1/2 cup Rice Krispies
- 3 Tbl. butter
- 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
- 4 firm bananas
- 8 wooden skewers

Place Rice Krispies into shallow dish. Melt butter and chocolate chips. Pour chocolate mixture into second shallow dish. Peel bananas and cut in half crosswise. Insert skewers. Quickly dip each banana into chocolate and coat evenly. Roll in cereal, pressing cereal gently into chocolate. Freeze about 2 hours. Makes 8 servings.

Hot Fudge pudding cake

This is an heavy-ish dessert, but delicious served with a light meal. Add a scoop of homemade vanilla ice cream and 'that's all, brother'!

- | | |
|----------------------|----------------------|
| 1 cup flour | 2 Tbl. melted butter |
| 3/4 cup white sugar | 1 cup chopped nuts |
| 2 Tbl. cocoa | 1 cup brown sugar |
| 2 Tbl. baking powder | 1/4 cup cocoa |
| 1/4 tsp. salt | 1 3/4 cup hot water |
| 1/2 cup milk | |

Mix together the flour, white sugar, 2 tablespoon cocoa, baking powder and salt. Blend in milk and butter. Stir in the nuts. Pour into ungreased 9 by 9 inch pan. Stir together the brown sugar and 1/4 cup cocoa. Sprinkle over the batter. Pour the hot water over batter and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

(Infamous) Mud Pie

So many restaurants take pride in offering this special ice cream pie. Well, try this one at home—it's a snap.

- 1/2 pkg. chocolate wafers
- 1/2 stick softened butter
- 1 quart ice cream (vanilla, coffee, mint—your favorite)
- 1 1/2 cup fudge syrup (recipe follows)
- whipped cream
- sliced almonds

For crust, crush cookies and combine with butter. Press into pie, sides and bottom; chill. Let ice cream soften enough to spread over crust; freeze one hour. Remove from freezer and spread fudge syrup over ice cream. Freeze again.

When ready to serve, remove pie from freezer and allow to thaw for 1/4 to 1/2 hour.

For fudge syrup, mix 1/2 cup butter and 2 1/4 cup powdered sugar in top of double boiler; add 2/3 cup of evaporated milk and 6 squares of bitter chocolate and cook over hot water for 30 minutes. Do not stir while cooking. Remove from heat and beat.

Top pie with whipped cream and sliced almonds.

Cantaloupe sherbert

For a melon treat, scoop this colorful sherbert into honeydew or cantaloupe halves.

- 2 cups chopped cantaloupe
- 2 egg whites
- 1/2 cup skim milk
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 cup orange juice
- 2 Tbl. lemon juice

In a food processor, puree cantaloupe and skim milk until smooth. Stir in juices and freeze in a shallow pan until firm. Whip egg whites until soft peaks. Slowly add sugar and whip to firm peaks. Take cantaloupe mixture from freezer. Beat until smooth, but not melted. Fold in egg whites. Freeze until firm. Let soften at room temperature 10 minutes before serving.

Makes 6 servings, 80 calories per serving.

How to save your film from the airport X-ray machine

by JIM WARNKEN
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

The sign on the machine that airport security uses to x-ray your carry-on baggage claims it won't damage film. Don't believe it!

Film speed has a lot to do with it. The higher the ISO rating, the more chance of damage. However, even a very slow speed film, such as ISO 64, can be damaged with only four passes through an airport monitoring machine. A commonly used film with a rating of ISO 400 needs only two passes, and radiation effects, such as ghostly images, could show on your prints. High speed film, such as ISO 1000, could be destroyed in only one pass.

Never allow your film to pass through an airport monitoring machine if you can avoid it. FAA guidelines give passengers the right to hand-inspection on film.

However, don't count on all security guards to be aware of, or care to abide by, this rule. Also, if you travel outside the United States you're looking at a whole different set of regulations and some very potent x-ray machines. Here are some tips if you can't avoid the film-fryers.

Don't pack metal items near film, unless you want a picture of your pen across that Hawaiian sunset. Don't load your film into your camera before your trip. It's much easier to convince the security guard to inspect a roll of film than a camera. The x-rays won't hurt the camera body, so send it through.

There are lead-lined bags on the market, which will prevent x-rays from harming your film. This also prevents the contents of bag from being seen on an x-ray monitor. The operator usually will open the bag and hand inspect it. If you're traveling overseas, though, the guard may just turn-up the x-ray until he can view the contents. Fried-film.

One more costly alternative is to purchase your film and have it developed, before returning home.

Bowen's county thespians in 'Taming of the Shrew'

The Bowen Park Theatre Company will bring William Shakespeare's hilarious comedy classic The Taming of the Shrew to the stage of Goodfellow Hall, 39 Jack Benny Dr., just off North

Sheridan Rd., in Waukegan, June 15, 16, 17, 22, 23, and 24. Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8 p.m., Sundays begin at 7 p.m.

Once again the Bowen Park Theatre

Company has assembled a regional cast for its production. Dir. Eileen Buchanan, who had great success directing Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" for the company, has chosen a cast that hails Waukegan, Libertyville, Gurnee, Chicago, and others.

The irascible Kate is portrayed by Janet B. Lindsay of Waukegan. Her single-minded suitor Petruchio is played by Chuck Crowley of Gurnee.

The production is highlighted with sets by Sam Temple, one of Touchstone Theatre's finest talents, and by beautiful period costumes. Both add to the flare and atmosphere of the play.

Goodfellow Hall has been called by critics and audiences "a joy to behold, an intimate theatre of great warmth and charm."

Tickets are on sale at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts. Prices are $10 for adults and $7 for students, seniors, and military personnel. Reservations can be made by phone with Visa and Mastercard by calling (708)244-1660.

In 'Ernest'

Left, Chris Heilgeist, Twin Lakes, Aileen Biel, Antioch, and Alan Titus, Round Lake Beach, in scene from 'The Importance of Being Ernest' at PM&L Theatre, Antioch.

Author returns to center

Renowned author and Waukegan native, Ray Bradbury, will return to receive the 1990 Jack Benny Arts and Humanities Award.

In honor of his upcoming visit, the Friends of the Jack Benny Center for the Arts are sponsoring a review and discussion of "Dandelion Wine," Mr. Bradbury's novel about growing up in Green Town, Ill. (a.k.a. Waukegan).

The program is scheduled for Saturday, June 2 from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at the Belvidere Recreation Center, 412 S. Lewis, Waukegan. James Neal, who teaches drama at the Jack Benny Center, will lead the discussion. Refreshments will be served.

Reservations for the event can be made by contacting Dolores Strazer at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts, (708)244-1660. The cost of the program is $3 per person. Reservations are limited to 40 people and must be made by May 29.

"We've done a lot
of growing up together..."

since those days! Now, our own kids are nearly prom age
... and Ed and I have started planning our retirement. In fact, we've even pre-planned
our funerals ... and started a pre-payment plan to make sure the kids don't have those expenses to burden them.
And, by taking care of it now,
we can even fix the costs ...
so it's inflation-proof!"

PET PARADE

Welcoming a new cat into the family

Bringing home a new cat is as big a step as welcoming any other new member of the family. You want to take the right steps to ensure a happy and healthy cat, and you want the rest of the family to enjoy all the benefits of feline companionship. Here are a few tips for making kitty fit right in:

•Establish ground rules as soon as possible, always making sure to give lots of praise when something is done correctly. Be firm when disciplining your pet, without shouting. Never punish your cat with physical or verbal abuse.
•Resist the urge to feed your pet table food; instead select a nutritionally complete cat food. One that offers a variety of sizes, textures and flavors for virtually every age or size cat. Feed your cat at the same times each day, and always from its own bowl. Feeding bowls should be shallow, stable and easy to clean. Be sure to wash the bowl frequently, and keep it separate from other dishes.

•Born with sharp claws and the instinct to keep them in top condition, cats enjoy scratching—even the furniture. Protect your possessions by providing a scratching alternative, like a post made of carpet, heavy-duty corduroy or some other strong fabric that won't tear easily.

Pet of the Week

Spudd Flight

The live entertainment in the Lindner home is Spudd, who is a 10-month-old kitten. One of his talents is jumping in the air for a treat. The owners of this playful gray kitty are Patti Lindner and son, Greg, who live in Grayslake.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Romance is exciting and unexpected, but don't let socializing interfere with work that has to be done. Help your close friends. Mixing business with pleasure could lead to a romantic encounter. Parents are busy with responsibilities in connection with children.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) An unexpected love note or phone call may come from afar. Domestic priorities must be attended to. Plan to entertain at home. A new work assignment could fall into your lap. Catch up on correspondence, especially with relatives and other close ties.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Surprise a loved one by planning a special entertainment. Do things in style, but try to avoid any unnecessary extravagance. Suggest an impromptu get-together with co-workers. It's time to attend to your own personal affairs rather than those of others.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) If you've been putting things off, you'll have time to catch up now. A surprise meeting will make this week somewhat special. Increased popularity makes you happy, but don't forget about one friend who would really like to see you. Shopping is favored.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Behind-the-scenes influence helps you out in business. Capitalize on opportunity and don't let important matters slide. Stop procrastinating. You'll be delighted by an unexpected gift or consideration. Consult with advisers, especially about career matters. You'll get good advice.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You receive admiration from an unexpected quarter, and will find new contacts exciting. Seek ways to augment savings. Accent security. Though you're brimming over with excitement, it's best not to broadcast career developments. Defer to close ties in social life.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You may receive surprising advice about a work matter. Close ties surprise you in pleasant ways. Late evening hours accent romance. Fantasy could interfere with your romantic perception. New work opportunities are exciting. Business and pleasure combine favorably.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A domestic situation is muddled, but new romantic possibilities are thrilling. Enjoy hobbies, sports and wholesome amusements. Not everything you hear will be true, but excitement looms on the home front. Family ties are strong. Act on domestic ideas.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Don't be careless with possessions. Keep your feet on the ground in romance, but don't hesitate to show others how you really feel. A relative's erratic behavior may disturb you. An impromptu visit to the store leads to a good buy. You find new romance at work.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Rumors are circulating now, so don't believe everything you hear. An unexpected call pleases you. Romance and happy times are yours. Be sure to fulfill financial promises. Catch up with neglected tasks and enjoy private moments with a loved one at home.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You may feel uncertain as to what's expected of you in a career situation. A new contact made now may become a lifelong friend. You may have a blind spot regarding a question of ethics. You'll make important career strides. Financial prospects improve.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) It's a poor time for financial dealings with others. Watch out for deception. Socially, you're sought-after and are well received. Relations with close ties are slightly strained. Later, a new career development gives you something positive to share with others.

The theme "Journeys With Jesus" will be for children in nursery, kindergarten, first and second, third and fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

An exciting five day vacation through Old and New Testament lands will lead vacationers, "Along the King's Highway."

If you are interested, call the school office at (708)438-6103 or the church office at (708)438-7709 and leave your name.

Lindenhurst

Pastor Erika Hundrieser of Trinity United Methodist Church in Lindenhurst assumes a new pastorate in Hazel Crest, Ill. this June. A farewell buffet brunch after her final sermon as pastor at Trinity will give members and friends the opportunity to wish her well in her new ministry. The buffet will be served in the fellowship hall at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, June 3. Pastor Hundrieser has been active in the community and in district and conference wide ministries for the last seven years. Among many talents, her depth of feeling and expression of love in acts of unconditional caring for all people will be missed but long remembered here in Lake County.

Lindenhurst

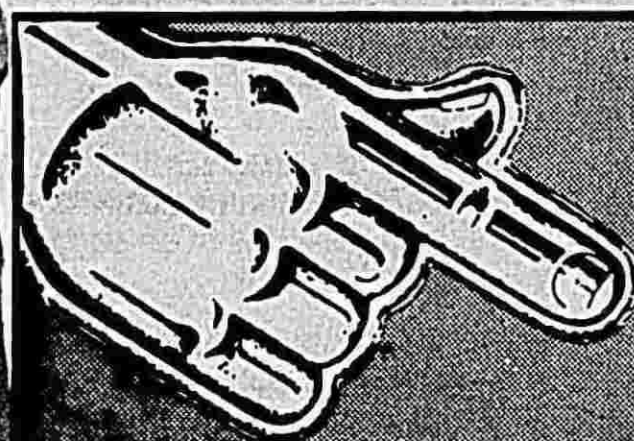

"Journeys with Jesus" is the theme of Vacation Bible School at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Lindenhurst. The community is invited to attend the classes for three years old through children entering the 8th grade next year on Monday, June 11 through Friday, June 22. Vacation Bible School is in session from 9 to 11:30 a.m. each day. The church is located at 1822 E. Grand Ave., Lindenhurst.

Students will participate in Bible Stories, art activities, music, service projects, recreation and worship - all centered on five themes: "Journey with Jesus at the Synagogue - Sharing the Good News," "Journey with Jesus to the City - Responding in Faith," "Journey with Jesus by the Sea - Trusting in God," "Journey with Jesus on the road - Serving God and Others," and "Journey with Jesus in the Country - Witnessing in New Places."

Journeys with Jesus is an exciting and important learning opportunity for children, youth and adults. It aims to provide a learner-centered, fun-filled and happy occasion for all who participate.

Registration for Vacation Bible School is now in progress. You can register or obtain additional information by visiting the church office between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and noon Monday through Friday, or by calling the church at (708)356-8140. Pre-registration is required by Wednesday, June 6. Registration forms are available in the narthex.

Antique appeal lasts through time

by BECKY JOHNS

Antiques--they come from all areas of life in the past, from furniture and jewelry to baseball cards.

"It's hard to say what's most popular," said Micky

Fischer, owner of Collection Connection in Antioch. "What's good today may not be tomorrow."

Fischer said antique buying increases in the summer because of a swell in vacationers out shopping.

"I think new people are more interested in country," Fischer said. "It changes from week to week. Constants are depression glass, furniture, lamps, jewelry. Baseball cards are especially popular in the summer."

"We get more retail customers in the summer," said Mall on the Mall co-owner Dave Moon, who runs the wholesale Antique complex with his wife, Nancy.

"We do primarily dealer's business. But oak furniture is very popular. The '50s are hot right now, and so is black Americana. We have a lot of that stuff right now," said Moon.

"Some days we think we're running a museum here," said Moon. "Things get picked up and they're oohed and aahed over but nothing gets sold."

Pat O'Connor of Lake County Promotions, which runs the antique show on the second Sunday of every month at the Grayslake fairgrounds, said antique buyers have to work fast, no matter what time of year it is.

"When you see an antique you like, you should buy it then and there because more than likely it won't be there five minutes later. Those hard-to-find items you should buy right away," said O'Connor. "They're not factory-made. You can't run out and buy another just like it."

Depression glass, the glass made during the depression years, has a special interest for antique buyers.

"It's the hunt, the excitement of finding that hard-to-find piece," said O'Connor.

Sand shapes, candles summer tradition

These would be fun to make the next time you spend a day at the beach.

Take along a camp stove, a large pan and enough water to half fill it, one-pound coffee cans, paraffin wax (broken into pieces), crayons, oven mitts, and an old candle with a good wick.

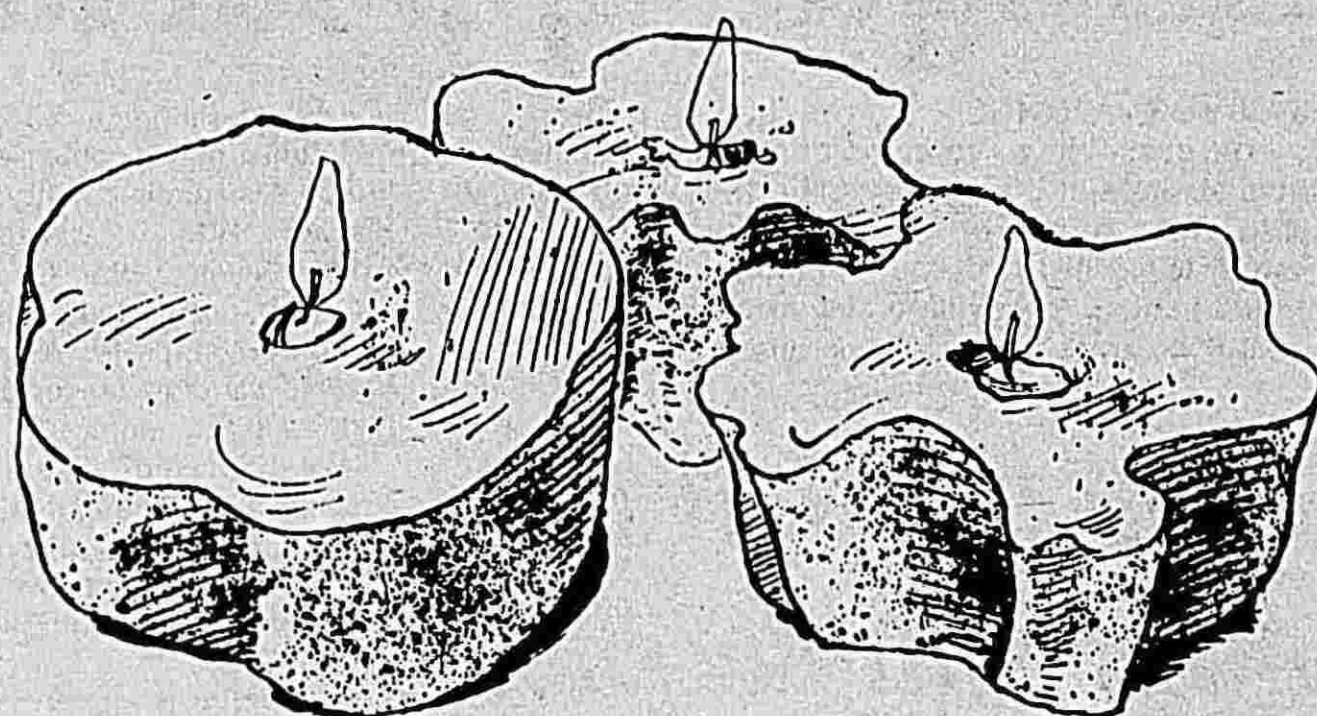

Find a spot on the beach where the surf won't wash everything away before you're done. Boil the water on the camp stove. This will take a long time.

While waiting, you can dig and shape the mold. Dig a hole in damp sand about four inches deep. Mold it into an interesting shape. Stand the candle you brought along in the center of the mold so that its wick is level with the top.

Put enough pieces of paraffin wax in one-pound coffee cans so that they're about 2/3 full. Allow one can for each candle you plan to make. Add two or three crayons, for coloring, to each.

When the water boils, put on the oven mitts and carefully set the can of wax into the pan. Be careful. Always put can of wax in pan of water to melt; otherwise, it might burst into flame. Be sure to wear the oven mitts when you pour the melted wax into the mold.

Let the candle cool for about two hours. Then gently lift it out of the mold and brush off loose sand.

Mustangs' strong start ends Carmel's season

By BRENT KILLACKY
Lakeland Newspapers

"It was a tremendous offensive show," said Mundelein girl's softball coach Jim deRivera about the regional semi-final game against Carmel on Saturday.

"The meat of our lineup really hit the ball hard and our defense really played well," deRivera said. "When you combine all three phases—the pitching, the hitting and defense—you're going to win the game."

And Mundelein, 27-4, led by the pitching of Lynette Kowalke (21-3), did win, 8-0.

"It's a whole new season," said deRivera. "All the games we have won before are thrown out the window. This is the state tournament and records don't mean anything. We're 1-0 and that's all that matters."

"Everybody was ready to play softball," added deRivera. "We had intensity out there."

For Carmel, 10-11, the loss marked the end of the season.

"We were getting people on base, and leaving them stranded," said Carmel

Coach Kris Torkelson.

Carmel left a total of eight runners on base during the game. "Mundelein earned the win because of errors and because of good pitching," Torkelson said.

Torkelson was expecting Mundelein to start out hitting and that is precisely what happened. The Mustangs got three hits in the first inning, scoring Ashley Struggles and Sharon DeHart.

Carmel's defense prevented any further runs until the third inning when Kowalke and Michelle Strachn reached home plate for Mundelein. Pam Wiesner and Stephanie Athey scored for Mundelein later in the game and DeHart scored twice more.

"When we prepare to play, we prepare for ourselves." We did not care if it was Carmel or Libertyville. It didn't make any difference to the team," said deRivera.

Carmel had ousted Libertyville in the first round.

The win by Mundelein, which is looking to get back to the Elite Eight at Pekin, set up the second straight year the Mustangs battled Lake Zurich for the regional title.

Out at home

Wauconda's Gene Walters prepares to slide to home plate during first inning of Class A sectional game against Driscoll. Driscoll catcher Bryan Wojtun applied the tag and Walters was called out. Play at plate was closest Bulldogs would come to scoring, as Wauconda was eliminated from Aurora Central sectional 1-0. —Photo by Steve Peterson.

East's home run power eliminates Libertyville

The situation seemed fairly bright for the Libertyville High School baseball team.

The team had just sent 11 batters to the plate in the fourth inning. A 3-0 Waukegan East lead had become a 6-3 Wildcat advantage. Libertyville fans were thinking of the "C" word which would loom three days later if the Wildcats hung on: a battle with rival Carmel in the championship game of the Warren regional.

But while the situation seemed bright for Libertyville at the moment, both Wildcat Coach Jim Panther and East

Coach Bob Smith knew that the scoring would not be finished. And both were right as the Bulldogs came back for a 9-6 win in this long contest.

"I did not think 3-0 would win it nor did I think the scoring would be over when we were ahead 6-3," Panther said.

Libertyville, which upset Carmel in the regional last year, got on the scoreboard when East starter Gary Bennett balked. Chris Lang, who was the losing pitcher in a 9-3 Libertyville loss to East which closed out the regular season, gained revenge with a two-run homer which put the Wildcats ahead 4-3.

Bart Nielsen walked and stole second, and Eric Stall delivered a two-RBI double.

"We did a nice job coming back," Panther said.

Panther had a beef with the home-plate umpire during the fifth inning when the tide began to turn against the Wildcats. At issue was the size of the strike zone.

"I think he was tight both ways. you have to say he was consistent," the Panther said.

The Bulldogs had left seven runners on base through four innings, but hit the jackpot in the fifth.

A two-run single by Aaron Schroetter was the first big blow, which cut the gap to 6-5. An inning later, the home team took the lead as Roy Gilmore smashed a home run. The wind was blowing out at Faulkner Field this Saturday afternoon and Chris Gargala made the Wildcats pay for two walks as he pounded a home run for a 9-6 East lead.

Libertyville, which cruised past Zion-Benton 12-2 in the first round of the regional, made a valiant comeback. Stanek singled with one out in the sixth and after another out, Nielsen homered on the first pitch, cutting the margin to 9-8.

But that's where it stayed, as East brought in its ace to end the Wildcats' season. Libertyville, which took second place behind Lake Forest in the North Suburban, ended 24-10-1. While the win was considered an upset, the Bulldogs did reach the 20-win plateau at 22-7.

"We're in the position where we wanted to be," Smith said of the championship game against Carmel.

Carmel had ousted Waukegan West 4-2 as Jim Cooney picked up the win.

Ogrin to open course

Former Waukegan resident and PGA touring professional David Ogrin will lead a foursome of pros seeking to establish a course record at the newly-remodeled Antioch Golf Club on Monday, June 4.

As part of the gala grand opening festivities, Ogrin will present a shotmaking clinic at noon and will also tell banquet guests of stories of his experiences on the PGA tour. He and his fellow pros will also play one hole with each foursome participating in the day's 18-hole golf event.

Ogrin's presence is on behalf of Antioch GC's new ownership, which implemented $2 million in improvements to the facility at Rte. 59 and Grass Lake Rd. The first phase of the upgrading of the course and clubhouse is nearly complete.

The grand opening is open to the public. Tickets are $200 per person including golf, cart, prizes, lunch, dinner and on-course refreshments.

Dinner only is $35. For more information, call David Greene at (708) 395-3004.

Bird picks Lakeland College

Lakeland College football coach Fred Reese has announced that Brandon Bird, a fullback from Wauconda High School, will play for the Muskies next fall.

Bird also was a member of the Wauconda High track and field and baseball teams. A National Honor Society student, he plans to major in business in college. The 5-9, 190 pound athlete earned all-Northwest Suburban Conference honorable mention recognition in football.

Brandon Bird

"Our offense at Lakeland calls for a rough and rugged-type individual to play fullback. Brandon fits that mold. He also played some offensive guard which indicates that he can be an exceptional blocker," Coach Reese said.

The Lakeland recruit is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bird of Wauconda.

The Lakeland team was 2-7-2 last year and finished at the bottom of the newly expanded Illini-Badger-Hawkeye Conference with a 1-5 record. Reese was a Lakeland assistant last year.

Whittier earns MVP honor

Rod Whittier, Wildwood, shared Most Valuable Honors at the 1990 University of Wisconsin-Parkside Men's Basketball Awards Banquet May 5.

Schmidtman, a senior guard, lead the team in scoring averaging 14.2 points per game. Whittier, a senior guard, averaged 12.5 points per game. Jerick, a senior guard/forward, averaged 13.3 points and 4.2 rebounds per game. Jerick also was named Mr. Long Ranger, an award for the highest three-point shooting percentage. This year, Jerick completed 74 of 162 attempted three-point shots. Whittier is a Carmel High School graduate.

Other award recipients were Tihomir Juric, Yugoslavia, freshman, center/forward, Most Improved; Tim Cates, New Munster, freshman, guard, Mr. Range; and Dan Lyons, Madison, junior, center. Top Rebounder. During the banquet, Lyons was named captain of the 1990-91 squad.

The Ranger squad completed a 14-14 record during the 1989-90 season and placed sixth in District 14 playoffs.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

reported by Brosius D'Arcy

The case for global diversification of investments has never been stronger.

The 12 countries that make up the European Economic Community have 323 million people. This is larger than the populations of the United States and Japan combined.

In addition, international stock and bond markets recently have tended to outperform U.S. markets. In the past 10 years, the U.S. equity market was the best-performing market only once. And in four of the past five years, returns on the markets of Germany, Japan and Singapore beat those of U.S. markets better than 4-to-1.

Of course, you shouldn't sell all your U.S. holdings and buy foreign stock. A combination of U.S. and foreign securities makes the most sense. And one of the easiest ways to do this is through a carefully selected mutual fund consisting of international securities.

Regardless of your choice, don't ignore this opportunity to participate in what could be one of the best markets of the next decade.

Maloney's pitching, homer power paces Carmel

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

A school bus driver pulled the bus over to the side of the road.

A few more cars pulled up behind, creating another section of fans behind the right-field fence at Chester Mulkner Field in Gurnee.

Those baseball fans knew something special was happening here at the Waukegan East - Carmel clash for the Warren regional title.

Indeed, just watching Carmel pitcher Eric Maloney for a few of his 105 pitches would give this one away. Carmel, seeking revenge for an unexpected exit from last year's journey, won the title 5-1 behind Maloney's one-hitter.

"I did not have the location I usually have but I kept them off balance," Maloney said.

The contest between the top two regional seeds featured a debate over re-entry as well as Maloney overcoming a sixth inning threat by the Bulldogs. The win gives the Corsairs a spot in the Barrington sectional tournament June 1 against Woodstock. The trip will be Carmel's second in three years to the sectional level.

The re-entry debate happened just after the East fourth inning. Pinch runner Phil Brananen ran for Gary Bennett but Bennett did not report in to the home plate umpire. The ever-observant Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi noticed the infraction immediately, and Bennett was ejected.

"I can live with what I did because if you get to the sectionals, you know someone will try and do it to you," Gandolfi said. He noted Stevenson Coach Bob Mackey, taught him the lesson of the re-entry rule in a regular-season game last year.

"This is redemption for the seniors," Gandolfi said. Carmel was upset by Libertyville in the second round last year.

The regional title game promised to be battle between Carmel's Maloney and East ace John Katalinich.

It was Maloney's bat which provided Carmel with its first runs. He tagged a Katalinich pitch in the third inning for a homer after Chris Splitt had walked.

Summer baseball pays dividends for Alport

A summer-long of baseball has paid off for Carmel High School's tony Alport.

Alport, a junior, went to work immediately last summer, playing for Carmel's summer baseball team.

"He learned a lot last summer about how to pitch different hitters," Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi said.

Alport, a Mundelein resident, helped anchor the strong Carmel defense which helped the Corsairs win the Warren regional with a 5-1 win over Waukegan East. The win gave the Corsairs a berth in the June 2 Barrington sectional against Woodstock. Many Blue Streak coaches and players were on hand to scout the Warren regional title game.

"You can set up anywhere on the plate you want," Alport said of Carmel pitcher Eric Maloney. Maloney threw a one-hitter in the win.

"He had decent stuff but not his best," Alport said of Maloney.

Wearing No. 35, Alport gunned down an East runner in the third inning as he tried to steal.

The Corsairs had a strong game defensively behind Maloney, including a double play to end a fifth inning East rally bid.

Strong start leads Bears to oust MHS

It was the same final score.

But what a difference a year makes for the Mundelein and Lake Zurich softball teams. This time, it was Lake Zurich's turn as a 6-2 win over the Mustangs.

"It's been a long year waiting for it. But we are still hungry," Lake Zurich Coach Joe Kedizor said following the win in the Libertyville regional.

Winning Lake Zurich's Denise Funk contributed with her bat as well, with an RBI in the six-run first. Other key hits were a triple by Tricia Znorski, a single by Leslie Todd and a two-RBI single by Jenny Minster.

Mundelein scored twice in the second and loaded the bases in the fifth inning. But a double play and a pop out ended the threat.

Lake Zurich battles Warren, winners of the Antioch regional at 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

By

Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director
Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: Can an infant's vision be tested?

ANSWER: Yes. As a matter of fact, an infant's eye sight should be tested as early as possible. Babies are sometimes born with vision and eye problems just like they are born with other physical conditions. Modern testing procedures allow these conditions to be detected at birth so that corrective treatment can be planned.

During the painless testing procedure, the baby looks at a video screen on which different types of stripes and patterns appear. Electrodes attached to the baby's head record brain waves created when the infant looks at the screen. If abnormal brain waves occur, the baby's eyes should be studied to identify the nature of the problem and to determine what corrective treatment, if any, is needed. If necessary the same corrective options used for older children and adults are available for babies including glasses, medication or surgery.

Wrestlers Onstad, Strobl head for Germany

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

One might think this would be the off-season for wrestling. Baseball, softball and track and field dominate the headlines in May and early June. But for a handful of Lake County wrestlers, this is anything but a time to catch a few ball games.

For two Grayslake Community High School athletes - Ryan Geist and Jeff Walls, have made decisions on where to attend colleges. Meanwhile, two of the county's underclass wrestlers with bright futures are brushing up on their German.

Geist will know one thing when he attends Illinois State University this fall.

A fellow wrestler will easily be able to give him a ride home. Geist, a Grayslake Community High School wrestler, has signed a national letter of intent to wrestle for Coach George Girardi.

"I think he will surprise some people his freshman year," Grayslake Coach Steve Kushner said of Geist.

Jeff Walls, another state qualifier, will attend the University of Illinois.

Geist capped off his high school career with a fifth-place finish at the IHSA state meet last winter at 145 pounds. Geist, who started his wrestling career at Grant High School, had a combined record of 88-6 in his junior and senior years and he won 143 varsity matches in four seasons.

Kushner said Geist will likely wrestle at 150 or 158 for the Redbirds.

Geist will be joining Warren product Mike Frecking.

Although his high school career may be over, Geist is far from taking it easy in the off-season. Like some 100 other wrestlers, Geist competes in the Lake County Wrestling Club, run by Kushner at Grayslake. "This is the first weekend we have had no events," Kushner said.

Geist, who was crowned king at the Grayslake High prom Friday night, will major in education.

Both will be competing for spots on the junior national team.

For Al Strobl of Lake Zurich and Curt Onstad of Grayslake, the spring and summer will be serious fundraising months. Both made teams which will wrestle in exhibitions in Germany but both must also raise in the neighborhood of $2,000.

Strobl said he has been seeking money for people to sponsor the trip, which will take him to four cities in Germany.

"I have a chance to gain international experience and broaden my horizons," Strobl said.

Strobl said he has been sending flyers to businesses seeking their support.

Grayslake wrestler Onstad is hoping to compete in three tournaments this summer, two internationally.

He will be wrestling in the Cadet Regionals in Storm Lake, Iowa and the Cadet Nationals in Battle Creek, Mich. If he wins the Cadet Nationals he will become a member of the Cadet World team competing in Hungary. Onstad in July will join Strobl as a member of the USA-West Germany Cultural Exchange.

Onstad, who will be a junior, started his wrestling career with a bang, winning a state junior high title at Avon Center School. Both wrestlers have been selling candy and raffle tickets. Those wishing to donate funds for Onstad's effort may do so by sending a check to Grayslake High c-o Kushner while those wishing to support Strobl may send a check to Lake Zurich High c-o coach Mick Torrez.

On June 2, the next Special Olympics tennis event will be hosted by LTC. Anyone interested in helping can call Pregracke at (708) 377-7250.

The biggest contributor the last two years has been the Libertyville Rotary Club with Jerry Burnette as the key figure in this partnership.

Corps once again denies marina permit

STEPHANIE ENGLE

Lakeland Newspapers

The Army Corps of Engineers once again rejected a marina proposal in the River and Chain-O-Lakes area.

The Corps rejected a permit for 60 boat slips in the Bay Oaks Marina on Lacquette near Lakemoor. This is the third marina project the Corps has turned down since February.

The Corps ruled that more powerboats will further degrade the water quality and wildlife in one of the nation's busiest pleasure boat waterways.

The Bay Oaks Marina, whose 60 slips could have provided space for 120 boats, was proposed in 1987 as part of a 108-unit residential development that Joseph Buralli of McHenry is building around the small lake at the southern tip of Pistakee Lake.

While many boat owners and shoreline residents are against the Corps' ruling because they feel the decision will limit public access to the water, others are supportive of the Corps' ruling although they fear U.S. Rep. Philip Crane (R-Ill.) has the power to influence the Corps' decision.

Crane, a U.S. representative since 1969 and a friend of Buralli's, has a 15 percent partnership interest in the development project.

Corps officials said another reason they denied Buralli the permit was because he had lessened a donation of wetlands he had originally offered the state.

Buralli had offered 158 acres of wetlands but diminished the donation to 112 acres after becoming frustrated by the two-year delay in a ruling for the permit. State officials said they are no longer interested in the smaller donation.

QUESTION: My home is for sale for $150,000. I have an offer to buy it for $100,000. I will not sell for a dollar less than $135,000. How do I go about making a counter offer?

ANSWER: As with an offer, always make a counter offer in writing, setting out exactly what your new terms are. Nothing of significance should be left out. This means, in addition to the new price, how long your counter offer will be open and whether you are willing to provide some of the financing including the interest rate and term of years for repayment. Once the counter offer is signed and accepted, it becomes a binding contract.

HAMMERTOE DEFORMITY

A deformed toe is one of the most common conditions affecting the foot. This condition is often called a hammer toe, mallet toe or an overlapping toe.

A hammer toe is a flexible or rigid contraction of a toe. It is caused by a weakness in the small foot muscles of the foot which stabilize the toe. This muscle imbalance causes the toe bones to assume an abnormal position.

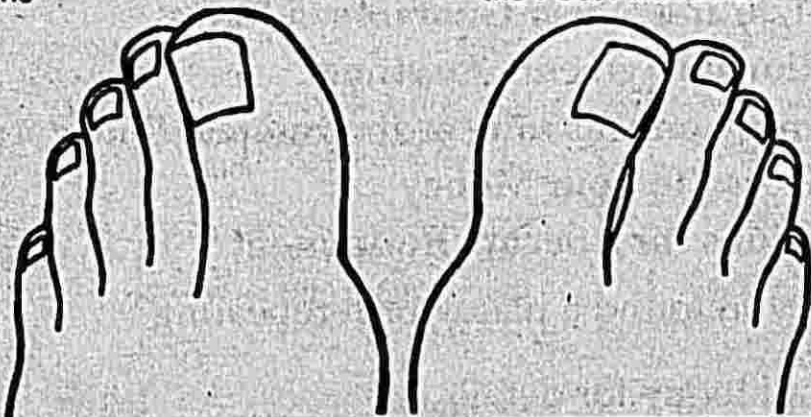

Shoes will often lead to abnormal pressure and friction on the top of the toe, resulting in a painful inflammation of the above toe joint. Often, this leads to a hard corn formation. If left untreated, this condition may progress to ulcers or infections.

Various forms of treatment available are trimming and padding of the corn, injections to relieve pain and inflammation, orthotics (inserts in shoes to correct improper walking), removing a section of toe bone to correct the deformity.

If you are suffering from this condition, or have any further questions contact Dr. Lee M. Tisa for a NO COST CONSULTATION to discuss your treatment options.

Six driving errors cause most accidents

In the time it takes to read this sentence, 34 auto accidents and one death will occur in the United States.

As a passenger on a plane, train, or bus, we have limited control over our own safety — we lay our lives in the hands of others. However, when we slide behind the wheel of a car or truck, the responsibility for safety rests solely on us.

Unfortunately, too many drivers are neglecting their responsibilities. National Safety Council statistics show that two-thirds of all traffic crashes result from driver error.

"Most accidents are not beyond a driver's control and are preventable," said Jim Williams, a health and safety expert for the Country Companies, an insurance and investment group. "The most common errors are things we know we are doing. We need to be conscious of these errors when we get behind the wheel."

The six errors which cause the most accidents are speeding, failing to yield, running stop signs, disobeying traffic signals, crossing the center line, and passing improperly.

"Speeding is the most deadly of all errors," said

Williams. "It is often the result of schedule delays — people are late for a meeting, work, or picking up the kids from school."

"Allow adequate time for your trip," Williams added. "Your chances of being in a serious accident double every 10 mph you drive over 50."

Accidents are also common when drivers approach an intersection with a yield sign, and accelerate because they don't think they see another car coming. The Country Companies safety expert said the correct way to approach a yield sign is to concentrate on the likelihood that another vehicle will be there.

"On approaching a yield sign, take your foot off the accelerator and cover the brake pedal. This reduces the reaction distance and slows your vehicle. It also allows you to stop sooner if another vehicle is approaching the intersection," Williams explained.

Running a stop sign is another deadly maneuver. Instead of coming to a complete stop, some drivers slow down to a crawl and roll through the stop sign. The "rolling stop" is a traffic violation. Drivers should come to a complete stop, look left, right, and left again for approaching traffic, the expert said.

Disobeying traffic signals can be corrected by better understanding what each light means. "Green means to proceed straight through the intersection or turn right or left, unless a sign prohibits either turn," said Williams. "Yellow is a warning that a red light will soon follow, and drivers should stop if they can do so safely. Red means come to a full and complete stop until the light turns green."

He said when a right turn is permitted on a red light, come to a complete stop and yield to approaching traffic before turning.

Head-on collisions are usually the result of another car crossing the center line into your lane.

"Avoid a head-on collision at any cost even if it means hitting a fixed object or something with a glancing blow," said the Country Companies safety professional.

The last driving error is passing improperly. Williams said before passing every driver should ask themselves the following questions: Is the pass necessary? Is it legal? And, is it safe? "The basic rule with passing is when in doubt, don't!" he warned.

The regional softball game had just ended and Heather Olejcek was handed the envelope. The Warren Twp. High School catcher opened the envelope carefully, for she knew what might be inside. And as she realized what was in the envelope - a national letter of intent from Georgia Southern University, a wide smile was shown not only by the catcher, but by parents, teammates and well wishers alike.

"I fell in love with the campus," Heather Olejcek said of her visit to Georgia Southern. Georgia Southern Coach Bill Spieth also liked what he saw in Olejcek's catching abilities. Olejcek, who reached base four times in Warren's 5-3 win over Waukegan West in the first round of the Antioch regional, will be playing first base for her freshman year before stepping in behind the plate her sophomore year. Georgia Southern has one junior catcher ahead of the Wildwood resident.

Olejcek said she was also considering Air Force and Lewis University before selecting the Georgia school.

Coach Linda Jeffrey knows the impact Olejcek can have on the team. A leg injury forced Olejcek to miss a few games at mid-season and she coached first base.

"I can feel a difference on the team. She is such a leader," Jeffrey said of Olejcek, who was named the team MVP.

Olejcek, who also plays volleyball and basketball at Warren was expected to receive the co-female athlete of the year award at the school's honors night Thursday with neighbor and basketball standout Melissa Webster.

Both were named to the All-North Suburban Conference team. Warren was 7-10-1 in the NSC.

Although Warren was the favorite in the first game of the post-season, Jeffrey was nervous going in. "You can get caught playing lazy and taking the other team for granted," Jeffrey said.

Olejcek started the second inning with a walk, one of two she would receive this Thursday afternoon at Viking Park.

Shawn Corsi, one of the team's most consistent hitters, then doubled her home. She later scored the second run on a single by centerfielder Tina Blankley.

Defensively, Olejcek had a putout at home and started a rundown.

County sees decrease in suicides, overdoses

by STEPHANIE ENGLE
Lakeland Newspapers

The Lake County Coroner's annual report for December 1988 through November 1989 indicates the number of suicides and drug overdose deaths in Lake County are down while homicide cases and vehicular deaths are up.

Suicides are down 23 percent since the last annual report. Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson said this is the lowest it has ever been since the coroner's office began keeping records.

"I hope this is a good sign. Hopefully, people are feeling better and are in better economic conditions," Richardson said.

Of the 36 suicidal deaths, 29 of them were by the male gender. In the way of race, 34 of the suicides were by white individuals. The most common mode of death as stated by the annual report was the use of carbon monoxide, which figured in 10 of the suicides.

Homicide deaths as well as deaths involving a motor vehicle both increased.

Homicide deaths were up 11 percent while vehicular deaths were up 26 percent. The increase in vehicular deaths was the largest increase the coroner's office saw in 1988.

The biggest contradiction the office saw, Richardson said, was the decrease of drug overdose-related deaths but an increase in alcohol-related vehicular deaths.

"Because awareness has increased and people are getting smarter about drugs, the number of drug overdose deaths are down. People are either not abusing or not using drugs. However, this does not comply with the increase of alcohol-related vehicular deaths. When one is up, the other is down," she said.

The annual report also stated there were nine deaths in Lake County resulting from Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (S.I.D.S.), commonly known as crib death. S.I.D.S., a death from natural causes, is the leading cause of death in infants from birth to one year of age and affects one out of every 350 infants.

Lindenhurst inches closer to final recycling plans

by BECKY JOHNS
Lakeland Newspapers

Lindenhurst village trustees met in subcommittee on Tuesday with Jensen Disposal owners to work out the details of Jensen's apparent contract with the village.

Jensen, which will handle the village's trash disposal, curbside recycling, and yard waste, will begin all three services on July 1, once the village approves Jensen's contract.

Carol Zerba, Lindenhurst village trustee, said she has received nothing but positive comments about the upcoming curbside recycling program.

"I think there's a conscious heightening going on, I really do," said Zerba. "There's an awareness that's very slow, but it's coming."

Village officials say they decided to start curbside recycling out of demand by the residents and the growth of the village's current recycling program.

"We've outgrown our dropoff," said Zerba.

Once recycling begins, Jensen will pick up residents' newsprint, aluminum, tin, three-color glass, and plastic milk jugs in the same manner as their trash—at the curb.

Residents attending the meeting expressed concern over the money Jensen will return to the village from recycling, saying they would like to see it returned to the residents.

Officials responded by saying that the money will be kept in a separate fund, and no plans for the money are yet in the works, although they will be looking into the possibility of using the money either to defray recycling costs in the future or expand the recycling program to include other materials, such as corrugated cardboard.

The board also discussed reduced rate possibilities. Jensen's disposal program allows for a second can for homeowners who request it, with a 10 percent discount for the second can and a 20 percent discount for seniors. The trustees also discussed a reduced-size can for senior citizens and handicapped residents, with a 20 percent discount on the smaller can.

Jensen is currently looking into different possibilities for the handling of yard waste, which the state has ruled can no longer be included in regular trash to keep it out of the landfills. Jensen has several possibilities for yard waste, including pickup either in the resident's can or in biodegradable paper bags that will be included in the composting of yard waste.

Jensen, upon the board's approval, will distribute new trash containers and recycling bins on or before June 25, the date of Waste Management of Lake County's last pickup in the village. Jensen's containers are 90-gallon green trash containers and 14-gallon red recycling bins, which will be replaced later with larger 18-gallon bins.

Dairyland Race Track will not open June 1

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

With meetings still going on at press time, it looks like the highly touted opening of the Dairyland Greyhound Race Track, in Kenosha, the biggest dog racing track in the world, will not be taking place this weekend as planned.

Many are lambasting the State of Wisconsin for part of the delay, saying that the access road that is not complete is being constructed by the State of Wis. Dept. of Transportation and the State of Wis. Racing Board "was nitpicking" when it listed its concerns about the track's incompleteness.

Meanwhile, area tv spot advertisements for the track's planned opening on Friday, June 1, are still running.

Kenosha merchants, restaurant and motel owners stand to lose a significant amount of opening weekend money and the track owners will not only be minus big revenues from this weekend, the interest on their loan is adding up in the banks by the day.

Besides the fact that residents living in the area of the track are complaining about water runoff and the lack of proper fencing, the racing board found fault with the condition of the track itself, listing a change in its design made without the board's permission, stones on the track and many other things that the board feels make the track unsafe for the dogs to race on.

Neither the racing board or the owners of Dairyland were speculating as to the opening date of the track as of press time.

Heimlich Maneuver topic of talk

The Fox Lake Community Center invites all area businesspersons and residents to a special and informative class in the Heimlich Maneuver, on Tuesday, June 5 at 11:30 a.m.

The instructor is a paramedic, fire captain, and CPR instructor, in Fox Lake. Erik Ullberg urges everyone to attend, to learn this simple and important method of emergency steps to dislodge food (or foreign items) from a choking victim.

Call (708)587-3335 or (708)587-7516 by 9:30 a.m. on June 5.

Students win awards for effort

League of Women Voters elects officers, directors

The League of Women Voters of Lake County held its interim council meeting, and Judy Berliant of Green Oaks was elected treasurer. Jean Baenzinger from Lincolnshire and Diedre Kieckhefer of Barrington Hills were reelected as directors. The rest of the board and officers are elected in the odd numbered years.

In other business, delegates approved an emergency, one-year study on the use of Lake County land for composting. The committee will consider both the environmental and financial issues involved with county composting.

More recently, 10 members from leagues in Lake County attended the legislative seminar sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Illinois. Those attending were Berliant, Sharon Brown and Jean Leblond of Libertyville, Marjorie Eitlinger and Kim Rusnak of Highland Park, Beryl Flom of Riverwoods, Jane Hush and Ginny Wulf of Lincolnshire, Joy Hodgson of Lake Forest, and Mary McLaughlin and Kieckhefer of Barrington. At the two-day meeting in Springfield, participants attended workshops on basic lobbying techniques, school formula revision, reproductive choice/family planning, and solid waste management. Following dinner, there was a panel of legislators discussing proposals for providing adequate funding for education and social services.

After a morning legislative briefing, League members talked with most of the legislators from Lake County regarding the family leave act and the voting majority for both the Lake County Forest Preserve and for the state legislature. "The league is actively involved in all levels of government, so we want our officials to be very aware of our positions," said Flom, president of the league.

Navy League celebrates 88th anniversary

Members of the Lake County Council, Navy League of the United States, will join Navy Leaguers throughout the nation Friday, June 1, in celebrating the organization's 88th anniversary. Lake County membership is currently 400 and growing.

Navy League is a civilian organization dedicated to educating and informing members and the general public about our nation's maritime forces through speaker programs, visits to ships and shore facilities, newsletters, and various activities within the community. Navy League also sponsors the Naval Sea Cadet Corps, a program that provides maritime-oriented training and activities for boys and girls, ages 14 to 17.

According to Council President Donald H. Stechmann, Navy Leaguers represent a cross section of professions and occupations. Family memberships (spouses and children) are encouraged. While persons on active duty with the Armed Forces cannot join, spouses are eligible. Prior military service is not required. More than half of the organization's members are non-veterans.

The next Lake County Council meeting will be held on Wednesday, June 6 in the Management

Information Center, second floor, Bldg. No. 1, Naval Training Center, Great Lakes. The public is invited. For more information about Navy League, call Stechmann at (708)662-8378 or Ev Cooper (membership vice president) at (708)234-2397.

Lake Villa buys land for water tower

The Lake Villa Board of Trustees has voted to purchase land adjacent to the railroad tracks, between Grand and Cedar Aves., in order to install a new water tower.

The Village bought the land at a price of $147,000 from Wisconsin Central Railroad for the 2.39 acres of land.

Mayor Joyce Frayer said that one acre will be used for the new water tower, with an estimated cost of $600,000, and the rest, 1.39 acres, will be sold for commercial purposes.
